ADMIRAL DE GAMA TO LOSE HIS HEAD.

HIS LIFE WILL BE DEMANDED AS THE PENALTY.

Portugese Forces Have Refused To Take Sides, Which Makes That Course Very Probable—The War Is Practically Over—Admiral Mellow Not Yet Heard From.

It is the duty of every republican in Janesville to attend the ward caucuses at 7:30 o'clock to-night.

RIO JANERIO, March 14—[Special]—Admiral De Gama will pay for his rashness with his life. The war is practically at an end. The Portuguese government has refused to take any sides in the affair which means that De Gama will have to die. Nothing has been heard from Admiral Mello.

RIO JANEIRO, Brazil, via Galveston' Texas, March 13.—The naval revolution is at an end, the rebel officers having surrendered. Refusing Admiral da Gama's conditional terms of surrender, President Peixoto yesterday ordered Forts Santa Cruz, Lage, San Joas and the Nictheroy batteries to open fire upon Fort Villegaignon. This they did, and kept up the cannonade vigorously until 1 o'clock. Then at 3 o'clock the city forts took up the work and all the other forts joining in again this was continued for another hour and then closed.

Soon afterward a government launch carried orders to Admiral Goncalves, commander of the loyal squadron, that the Nictheroy, the America, the Itapu and five torpedo boats, which had been waiting down the bay, should come farther up. This was done, and soon thereafter, at five minutes to 6 o'clock, the rebel's white flag on Fort Villegaignon was hauled down. This was quickly followed by that on Cobras Island and then by those on all the rebel ships in the harbor. A government launch had landed officers of Peixoto's government at Fort Villegaignon five minutes afterward, and the victory was complete without either the rebel ships or forts having fired a single shot.

It was the Portuguese minister here who presented Admiral da Gama's first proposals of peace to President Peixoto. The terms of surrender which they asked included the liberty of all naval officers now in prison, amnesty for the sailors and petty officers aboard the rebel ships, and the permission for the superior officers to resign their posts and sail for Europe under a promise never to take up arms again against the lawful government of Brazil. President Peixoto and his cabinet held a meeting to consider these proposals, and the result of their deliberations was that the President replied to the Portuguese minister, through the minister of foreign affairs, that he could not receive any conditional proposals of surrender from persons in active insurrection against the government of Brazil, and that unconditional surrender alone would be accepted.

Admiral da Gama then modified his terms, but the President firmly maintained his original position, gave orders to his artillery forces to have all things in readiness to open fire upon the ships, in accordance with the notice previously made public.

Precisely at 12 oclock noon the bar fortress opened fire upon Fort Villegaignon. In a short time the government forces at Fort Armacao and Fort Gragoata joined in the bombardment. The fire was not returned by the insurgents. The bombardment was continued until 3 o'clock, when it ceased. No great damage was done. The insurgents did not fire a shot, husbanding their ammunition.

At 4 o'clock the government fleet appeared off the harbor, the torpedo boat Aurora leading. The other vessels in the fleet were the Nictheroy, America, Itaipu, Bahia, Tiradentes and Parahyba, and two steamers and five torpedo boats. Immediately upon the appearance of the squadron the rebels hauled down the white ensign from one of the ships which was lying at Enchadas and hoisted a signal which was answered from shore.

The Aquidaban, Republica, and, incidentally, Admiral de Mello, the leader of the rebellion, are still absent, and nothing seems to be known of their whereabouts. One report has it that Admiral de Mello some time ago saw the hopelessness of the insurgent position in Rio bay and consequently took his two best ships southward in order to co operate with the insurgent land forces in that quarter, seeing that the only chance of a successful ending to the result was in a march upon Rio de Janeiro by land. The government is of the opinion that such a movement upon the part of the insurgent armies will easily be met and defeated by the government troops, and the capture of Mello is a question of but a short time.

Admiral de Mello was false to the emperor and to President Fonseca and President Peixoto. He has now proved false to Admiral da Gama.

The officers of the insurgent fleet have taken refuge on board English, French and Portuguese warships. One French vessel has put to sea with many of the rebel officers on board. It is said that Admiral da Gama is on board the British warship Sirius. It is the opinion of the American minister and the American naval officers here that the terms of surrender offered by Admiral da Gama should have been accepted by Peixoto, and the news that the rule in civilized warfare has been disregarded, and that brave but defeated insurgents, hemmed in on all sides, are to be refused the chance to surrender on honorable terms and forced to throw themselves upon the mercy of the government without any guarantee of their lives falls with disagreeable force upon every official in the government here who has had to do with the trouble in any capacity.

ABOLISH THE LORDS.

Labouchere's Motion Passed by the House of Commons.

LONDON, March 14.—In the house of commons last evening Henry Labouchere's motion to abolish the house of lords was adopted. The vote was 147 to 145.

The motion was vigorously resisted by the government, but all opposition was overborne by Labouchere. The majority for the motion was so small and the vote so light that no serious complications are likely to result.

The government was not aware of its danger and was not prepared for the attack. On a full house the motion would have been voted down by a decisive majority.

A cabinet crisis is not expected. The new premier, it is said, will muster his forces and undo Labouchere's work at the earliest opportunity. The news of the government's defeat causes a profound sensation, and it is rumored that Lord Rosebery will resign, but this is not believed.

FROM A BURNING STEAMER.

The Crew of the Fishing Boat Edith Have a Fearful Experience.

SANDUSKY, Ohio, March 14.—The crew of the fishing steamer Edith of Erie, Pa., had a terrible experience in the lake about twenty miles from here. The steamer in some unknwn manner caught fire and despite all effort of the crew the flames spread rapidly, soon enveloping the boat. The crew launched the life boat and took refuge thereon. But as a terrific sea was running they narrowly escaped drowning and almost perished from cold. The tug Anna Robertson of this port sighted the burning steamer and rescued the crew. The Edith burned to the water's edge and sunk.

SESSION OF LABOR LEADERS

To Meet in Milwaukee To-day in Regard to the Jenkins Investigation.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 14.—It is rumored that an important secret conference of labor leaders in regard to the Judge Jenkins investigation will be held in this city to-day. It is said that representatives of all the great labor organizations of the country are here and that they are registered under assumed names.

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 14,—A special meeting of the wage conference committee of the Amalgamated association will be held within the next two weeks to arrange details preparatory to a meeting with the manufacturers of the Mahoming Valley. The present rate for puddling is $4.75, and the manufacturers want it reduced to $3.75. It is probable a $4 rate will be agreed upon.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 14.—At a mass-meeting of the miners of the Springfield sub-district held here it was decided to resume work at reduced prices of 65 cents per ton, a reduction of 5 cents. The operators refused to grant a reduction in mining supplies.

OMAHA, Neb., March 14.—President S. H. H. Clark of the Union Pacific has arrived in Omaha to attend the wage schedule conference with the employes, which opens Thursday.

MAY SAVE THE KEARSARGE.

Wrecking Tug Orion Sails From Boston for Roncador Reef.

BOSTON, March 14.—The big tug Orion, of the Boston Towboat company, started at noon yesterday for the scene of the wreck of the Kearsarge. She will stop at Norfolk for coal and for Lieut. Brainerd, who will represent the government. The Orion is the largest tug of the kind on this coast. Her dimensions are 168 feet over all, 38 feet beam, and she draws 22 feet when loaded.

PLAINTIFFS TO ASK FOR A NON SUIT.

TO-DAY'S ROSTER CASE POINTS THAT WAY.

All of Mr. Tracy's Cross-Examination Was Devoted to Trying Wring From Him an Admission That He Was Attempting To Defraud the State.

It is the duty of every republican in Janesville to attend the ward caucuses at 7:30 o'clock to-night.

MADISON, March 14—[Special]—The events of the morning in the roster case seem to show that the defense will move for a non suit as soon as the plaintiffs evidence is all in which will be some time this evening. The defendants have put Mr. Tracey through a most rigid cross examination and have spent their time entirely in attempting to get the witness to admit that he thought it was not a proper thing to get such large profit from a state contract- in fact that he was attempting defraud the state.

TO TRAP TRAIN ROBBERS.

Bandits of Arkansas to Be Treated to a Leaden Reception.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 14.—A plan to rob the International & Great Northern north-bound express train at McNeill's switch, near Round Rock, Texas, at 2 o'clock this morning, was frustrated by one of the gang losing his nerve. The officials were given a tip that a robbery was planned for last night and the whole train was heavily guarded. At Austin one of the gang boarded the train. As the train approached McNeill the robber aboard discovered the officers and failed to give the signal to attack. He was cornered and confessed the plot and agreed to trap the gang. He was ordered to tell them that there was a company of rangers aboard the train last night, but to stop the train tonight, when they will be given a repetition of the St. Joe (Mo.) reception.

AMERICAN THREATENED.

Bold Threat Made at Honolulu by a Japanese Naval Commander.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., March 14.—Passengers of the steamer Arawa, which has just arrived here, give an interesting story of recent events in Honolulu. They assert that a Japanese was recently arrested in that city for a trivial offense. He escaped from jail and swam out to a Japanese warship. The authorities appealed to the American admiral, asking that he demand the surrender of the Japanese. The commander of the Japanese warship refused to give the man up and threatened that if the American admiral boarded his ship he would give him a half-hour to leave; or, if he refused, the American flagship would be blown out of the water. According to the story of the passengers the escaped prisoner was unmolested.

RUMORS DENIED.

Coxey's Peace Army Has Not Assumed Alarming Proportions.

MASSILLON, Ohio, March 14.—It is not true, as reported, that tramps are thronging Massillon intending to join the "Coxey army," which is scheduled to move from here towards Washington Easter Sunday. Mr. Coxey has not sought to secure a large force to start with, fearing confusion on the march. His wish is to leave Massillon with a small body of men and increase it from day to day, thus keeping the organization well in hand. Whether the enterprise has not gone beyond his power to control is now the question. His correspondence indicates it has. He has letters from Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma announcing the prospective departure of peace warriors by the train load to join the common weal wherever it best suits convenience.

Coming to New Orleans.

COSTA RICA, March 14.—A number of participants in the late resolution have taken steamer from Port Limon for New Orleans. Twenty-three prisoners were shot. A prominent conservative says the revolt last week amounted to nothing, that the real rebellion will come sooner than it is expected.

McKane's Accounts Go Into Court.

NEW YORK, March 14.—The accounts of John Y. McKane with the town which he represented in the board of supervisers for seventeen years are to be carried into court for investigation. This was decided upon by the citizens' committee of Gravesend.

Entombed Miner's Body Identified.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 14.—The body of one of the miners found at the Gaylord mine last night has been identified as that of Peter F. McLaughlin. It is believed the bodies of the other miners will soon be recovered.

Deserved His Fate.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., March 14.—John Pumphrey of this city spent the greater portion of last night whipping his wife and had threatened to give her another beating. About 7 o'clock he told her he was tempted to cut her throat and when he made a move to strike her, his step-son John Tombs, shot him in the back, inflicting a wound that will probably prove fatal.

Everest Nearly Destroyed by Fire.

FARGO, S. D., March 14.—The village of Everest, twenty miles west of here, was almost totally wiped out by fire Sunday.

BOLD JOB OF THUGS PAID BUT $6,900.

THAT WAS THE AMOUNT SECURED AT OKLAHOMA.

Money Was Sent From Leavenworth, Kansas, To Be Used To Pay the United States Troops, But the Station Agent Was Compelled To Give It Up.

It is the duty of every republican in Janesville to attend the ward caucuses at 7:30 o'clock to-night.

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., March 14.—[Special]—The money which the robbers secured from Station Agent Woodward, of Oklahoma last Monday night was sent from here to Paymaster Smith, and contained $6,900, and was intended to pay the troops. Masked men compelled Woodard to accompany them to the depot and open the safe. They then took the plunder and made their escape. The authorities have a good description of the men, and a posse has been ordered out.

NO PISTOLS IN THE COURT.

The Attorneys in the Pollard-Breckenridge Case Warned Against Arms.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Monday's encounter between opposing attorneys in the Pollard-Breckinridge case stimulated interest in the trial and the courtroom was filled yesterday with such a gathering of lawyers as has seldom been seen in Washington. Col. Breckinridge, smiling as usual, was shaking hands with his cousin, General Joseph Breckinridge, when Judge Bradley took his seat on the bench. Impressive silence followed the rollcall of jurors, the judge seeming to wait for explanations from the lawyers. He finally said that a repetition of the disorderly scenes in the court-room would be severely punished and warned the opposing lawyers that they must not carry pistols into the court-room.

Here Mr. Butterworth rose, stating that he had never carried a weapon and thought the counsel should be given an opportunity to enter disclaimers, as he would regret the occurrence of such a breach of order as much as the court. Mr. Shelby, Col. Breckinridge's partner, said he had never carried a weapon in his life. Mr. McKenney followed with a similar statement. Mr. Stoll declared that he had never entered the presence of a court armed, and then Mr. Thompson remarked: "As I am the only one left I will enter a disclaimer also."

Mr. Carlisle said he wished it understood that the information did not come from any of the plaintiff's counsel, to which Judge Bradley assented, remarking that it had been made to him by reputable parties.

The belligerent episode having thus been closed, Attorney Stoll, for the defense, asked to be permitted to make an argument in support of his motion to suppress the depositions taken the day before the trial, when Judge Bradley interposed:

"I hardly think it is necessary, as the court was about to decide in your favor."

The judge excluded the depositions on the ground that they did not conform to the law; that they must either be written by deponent or by the notary before whom they were taken, and that they were written afterward by a typewriter.

An exception to the ruling was taken for the plaintiff.

Another deposition, that of Mrs. Mary Logan, taken before Notary Lowry Johnson in Cincinnati, was offered for the plaintiff and objected to by the defendant. In the argument following it developed that this testimony was concerning the birth of Miss Pollard's first child. Attorney Carlisle admitted that the identification of Miss Pollard by the witness was not completed, but complained of the manner and length of the cross-examination of Mrs. Logan, who had herself protested against it as a persecution.

Judge Bradley decided that since more than a day had been consumed in the cross-examination of Mrs. Logan the rights of the defendant had been preserved and admitted the deposition, the defense noting an exception.

Mrs. Mary Logan is a Cincinnati physician, as appeared from the deposition read by Mr. Carlisle. She had in 1884 treated a young girl about to be confined, who gave the name of Monica Burgoyne, saying that her friends called her Mona. The witness said that Miss Pollard, who was then in the notary's office, bore some resemblance to her, although she had doubtless changed. It was the young woman's first child and she represented that her husband had died or there were family reasons for keeping the birth a secret.

Miss Pollard's attorneys have not yet decided whether the plaintiff will be placed upon the stand to testify, as she is in such a nervous state they fear she would not be able to stand the ordeal.

Tramps Overcome the Trainmen.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., March 14.—A mob of thirty tramps boarded a freight train leaving Grand Rapids at 8:05 last night. At Wayland they robbed a young man on the train, overcome the conductor, and took charge of the train. They ran it until they reached here, where fourteen of them were arrested about midnight. They had a lot of plunder with them.

BACKSET FOR MULCT.

Iowa House Knocks Out a Vital Section in the Bill.

DES MOINES, Iowa, March 14.—The house mulct tax bill got a backset yesterday which will result in its final defeat if the action taken shall not be reconsidered. Representative Morris of Clarke, a prohibitionist, offered an amendment striking out Section 18 of the bill. The bill without this section would be simply a mulct tax bill with no provisions that the payment of the tax of $600 a year should become a bar to proceedings except in cities of 5,000 population and upwards. The amendment was carried and the section was stricken out by a vote of 39 to 32. The democrats did not vote. Mr. Morrison moved a reconsideration and the vote on this motion will come up this morning.

TALKS SILVER AND TARIFF.

Nebraska Congressman Talks Finance to a Denver Audience.

DENVER, Colo.; March 14.—Congressman Bryan was given a reception in the Broadway theater last evening as a preliminary to the fourth annual banquet of the Greystone (dem.) club. Mr. Bryan spoke on bimetallism and tariff reform.

These two reforms, he said, must triumph together, and be brought to a successful issue by the same people and against the same opposition. Colorado must not think that she has a superior interest in the success of bimetalism, he said: "We need silver as money," he added, "because there is not enough of any other metal to supply the money necessary."

Negroes Object to Deportation.

CHICAGO, March 14.—The Colored Woman's club of Chicago has prepared an answer to the proposition of the Knights of Labor to transport the negroes to Africa, in which it is charged that the scheme of this organization is to deprive the colored people of their rightful inheritance to a country to which they have given 250 years of incessant labor. The club also says that deporting 9,000,000 negroes to Africa will not be as easy as lynching them in the dead hour of night.

Meteor Falls in Iowa.

MOUNT PLEASANT, Iowa, March 14.—A meteor fell near this city last Saturday morning. Some men working in the neighborhood saw a flash and observed that something had fallen in a lot near by. A blue flame arose for a short time. Some men who made an investigation found a meteoric stone imbedded in the earth. The part found is about the size of a large hand doubled up and seems to be composed of rock and iron infused together in an irregular manner.

Accounts $20,000 Short.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 14.—Expert Accountant Charles N. Seidlitz, who was employed by the County court to examine the accounts of county officials, has made an official report showing an apparent shortage of $19,401 in the accounts of County Clerk Montgomery Burr. County Clerk Burr, who is in San Antonio, Texas, for his health, has been communicated with, but so far no satisfactory explanation of the matter has been made.

Four Killed by a Boiler Explosion.

DRESDEN, Ont., March 14.—Nearly an entire family lost their lives in an accident at Vale's sawmill in Sombra township, near here. The mill had just been shut down for the dinner hour when the boiler exploded. Mr. Cornell, the engineer, and three of his children, who had brought his dinner, were all killed. The boiler was hurled through the roof and over an adjoining house.

Two Killed in a Wreck.

BOSTON, Mass., March 14.—The Montreal express, north bound, and the Quebec express met in a head end collision at Capleton, near Sherbrooke, Quebec, last night. The engineer of one of the trains and a train hand who was in the cab with him were killed. None of the passengers was seriously injured and none of the cars left the track. A misunderstanding of orders was the cause.

New National Party.

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 14.—The first state conference of the new national party opened at Lafayette hall yesterday. To-day at a national convention the new party will be formally launched as a national affair. The platform is of a radical character, following closely after that of the populists, but keeping prohibition prominently in front. It is practically a prohibition party with radical tendencies.

Second Bomb Victim Dead.

PARIS, March 14.—Ernest Bordes, one of the victims of the Hotel Terminus bomb explosion, has died from his injuries. This is the second death resulting from Emile Henry's bomb and makes a charge of murder against the anarchist certain.

Virginia's First Conscience Money.

RICHMOND, Va., March 14.—The first conscience money ever returned to the Virginia treasury was $275 left yesterday on the desk of the state treasurer with a note stating that it belonged to the revenue account of the state.

Kills His Wife and Then Himself.

RAVENNA, Neb., March 14.—John Brecht, a farmer, murdered his wife yesterday and then killed himself. Brecht had previously worked for the woman he married, who was a wealthy widow.

G. C. WILL NOT SIGN THE BLAND BILL.

IN CASE IT PASSES IT WILL BE VETOED.

General Brooke Absolved From Two New Mexico Judgements—Columbian Caravels To Be Loaned—House in Committee of the Whole—Honor St. Patrick.

It is the duty of every republican in Janesville to attend the ward caucuses at 7:30 o'clock to-night.

WASHINGTON, March 14—[Special]—It is said that the president will not sign the Bland bill in case the senate passes it. The bills to relieve General Brooke from two New Mexico judgments and to loan the Columbus caravals to the Red Cross association passed the house and they then went into a committee of the whole on appropriation bills.

CONGRESS TO HONOR ST. PATRICK

Will Adjourn From Friday Until Monday ---Shermon Won't Resign.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Congress expects to adjourn on Friday until Monday in honor of St. Patrick, whose anniversary will fall on Saturday. This is not much for the senate to do. It is the exception for that body to meet on Saturday of any week. But such adjournment on the part of the house is an honor which Irishmen of the world will adequately appreciate.

THE TREATY WITH HAWAII.

Clause Abrogating the Reciprocity Feature May Provoke a Controversy.

WASHINGTON, March 14. — Indications point to a spirited debate in the senate over the clause in the senate tariff bill inserted by the finance committee providing for the abrogation of the Hawaiian reciprocity treaty, and the subject is already beginning to attract attention on both sides of the chamber.

This treaty provides for a general exchange of the products of the two countries free of duty, and includes sugar as the principal Hawaiian export to this country, the United States in turn being permitted to export agricultural implements and other machinery and manufactures of woolen and cotton textile fabrics, as well as a great variety of other articles, to Hawaii without the payment of duty. It also contains a provision that no other foreign government than this shall acquire title to any port or harbor in the Hawaiian islands. There are a number of senators on the democratic side who will object to the clause, and it is believed that the republican party in the senate will be almost solid in its opposition. Objection is offered not only because the termination of the treaty would deprive this country of valuable prerogatives in the islands, but because also of the fact that the action contemplated would be a serious blow to the sugar planters of the islands, whose business, it is contended, is dependent absolutely upon maintaining free commercial intercourse with the United States. The clause was inserted as a concession to the sugar interest of this country, whose friends in the senate will exert their influence to have it retained.

Sundry Civil Bill Is Discussed.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The house yesterday began consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill and fair progress was made. The only amendment of importance was made by Mr. Morse (rep., Mass.) to cut off the appropriation for the interstate commerce commission. The amendment precipitated a rather bitter attack from Mr. Wise (Va.), who had read an anonymous letter charging Mr. Morse with opposing the law from purely selfish reasons. When the sense of the house was tested upon the Morse proposition it was overwhelmingly defeated. Just before adjournment Mr. Cummings presented his resolution calling for information from the secretary of the navy regarding the alleged violation of the armor-plate contracts by Carnegie, Phipps & Co. The resolution was agreed to and the house adjourned.

Sherman Won't Resign at Present.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The report that Senator Sherman is to resign on account of ill-health is once more heard. His only occasional and brief participation in the sessions of the senate finance committee, and of the senate itself, is the ground for the report. That he is more feeble than he was a year ago and is not in good health are self-evident facts, and it is thought he will not be able to take the prominent part in the tariff debate he and the republican party hoped. It is understood that he will make another speech on Thursday against the seigniorage bill and then go south for a rest, and that until he tests the efficacy of a change of air and scene as a health restorer he will certainly retain his position as senator and defy all reports to the contrary.

Bank Failure Closes Schools.

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo., March 14.—The bank of Excelsior Springs, a private concern, with a capital of $50,000, has been closed. It will close the schools.

Russo-German Treaty.

BERLIN, March 14.—The Russo-German commercial treaty has passed its second reading.

DAYS IN OLD ROCK BRING FORTH NEWS.

SCARLET FEVER BREAKS OUT IN A MILTON FAMILY.

Little Son of Professor and Mrs. A. R. Crandall Is the Victim, But the Home Is Quarantined, and There Is No Danger of Spread—Notes of Other Towns.

It is the duty of every republican in Janesville to attend the ward caucuses at 7:30 o'clock to-night.

MILTON, March 13—Professor A. R. Crandall's little boy has scarlet fever, the case developing Saturday. The house and inmates have been quarantined and the dis ase is not likely to spread, unless others have been exposed to contagion at the same time the boy was. There have been no cases here for a year or more and it is a mystery where the boy caught it. At the town meeting the electors will vote on raising a special tax of one mill for graveling highways and one-sixth of a mill for a "law and order" fund. The annual banquet of the Orophilidan Lyceum was served last evening by Mrs. E. D. Bliss at her residence. The "Oros" were out in full force, During the gale Saturday afternoon a stock car was blown off a switch at this station. Postmaster Morris was an interested spectator at the roster trial last Friday. Ninety-nine per cent. of our citizens disagree with the verdict of the jury in the Coughlin case. John Barlass, of Janesville, attended the "Oros" banquet last evening. W. H. Greenman and C. H. Nickelson have an auction sale on the Greenman farm next Tuesday. Silas Thomas has let the contract for building his new house to Magoon, of Milton Junction. Mrs. Holmes, of Janesville, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. F. R. Morris, Friday. Electors who live in this precinct must vote for judge here and for town officers at Milton Junction. See to it that you vote for Judge Bennett and that your neighbor does the same thing. John Hurd, who has been living at Clear Lake, Iowa, for some time, has got enough of that state and has come back to work the old homestead, "Hardscrabble." Mr. Smith, of Sparta, was the guest of Clem W. Crumb, Saturday. Thomas Tompkins, of Albany, visited his brother, Agent Tomkins, Saiurday. Mrs. J. W. Morton is building an addition to her house. The concert, under the direction of Prof. Charles H. Crandall, was given before a large audience at the college chapel, Monday evening. Some changes were made in the programme owing to the inability of the Misses Nellie and Berta Crandall to take part Miss Luella Barnhart is home from Chicago. J. H. Berkey, the "Kansas Cyclone," who is giving temperance lectures in this state, occupied the pulpit at the M. E. church Sunday morning. Mrs. Saxton, of Darien, visited Mr. and Mrs. Clem. W. Crumb, last week. Thomas Bunce has received a pension and will receive back pay to the amount of fifteen hundred dollars, so report says.

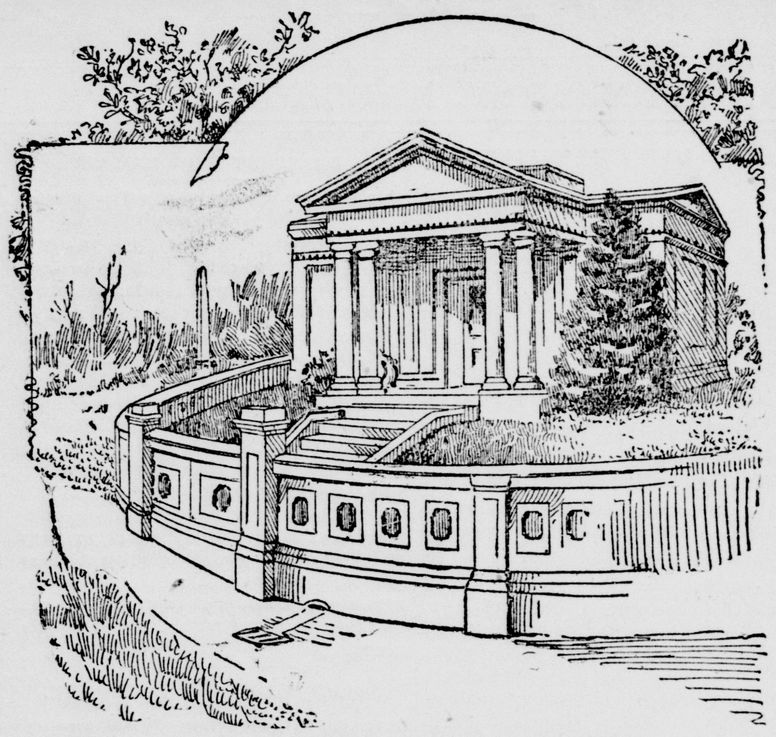

A WEEK AT CLINTON TOWN

Interest in the Temperance Cause Continues Unabated.

CLINTON MARCH 13.—The interest in the Sunday afternoon temperance meeting continues unabated, the hall is crowded with workers who mean business. O. H. Orton of Beloit, Grand Chief Templar of the Temple of Honor of Wisconsin and Mr. Reed of Beloit were the speakers last Sunday. The business interests of our electric light works is increasing under the efficient management of A. E. Taylor. W. A. Mayhew has returned from Watertown, N. J. where he went with the remains of his mother. William Bruce of Freeport, Ill., died at the residence of his daughter Mrs. John W. Jones, March 24, while here on a visit. He was for many years an active business man in this village, and was held in high esteem by all the people. He was buried beside his wife in the Clinton cemetery. His Freeport pastor, Rev. J. D. McCaughtry preached his final sermon. The people of Clinton are quite likely to be divided on the subject of the circuit judgeship. A dry goods store, harness shop and fruit stand are the new spring enterprises already started. Some of the milk formerly taken to the Tiffany creamery now comes to Clinton and some to Allen Grove. Farm hands are trying to keep up the former high prices, but many farmers refuse to comply with the terms and think it quite as profitable to let their land rest, as to try and raise a hundred bushels of democratic priced barley to pay a hired man for one month's work. Charles Elliot commenced digging his house cellar on "Quality Hill last week".

Small Talk From Afton.

AFTON, March 13—The Ladies' Sewing Circle will hold their entertainment and supper on Wednesday evening, March 14. As a new trial was granted in the mock trial at the last Patron meeting, court will convene next Saturday evening ot the residence of F. P. Starr. "Dick" Schooff, having sold his farm has posted notices announcing an auction sale to be held Tuesday, March 20. Superintendent David Throne announces a teachers' examination to be held at Afton, March 30 and 31. The Baptist Y. P. S. C. E. voted to join the Beloit Christian Endeavor Union. A cottage is being erected on David Waggoner's property which will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. N. Waggoner. Thomas Wandell having moved from the Eldredge farm to their new home near Delavan. Mr. Eldredge is back on the old homestead again. G. A. Lawton Jr. is back from DePere. Erwin W. Sims, of Madison, Nebraska, is visiting relatives here. Albert E. Uehling left Monday for Woodstock, Ill., to accept a situation as blacksmith. After a months vacation J. H. Seals is once more selling tickets at Afton station for the C. & N. W. railway. Martin C. Uehling of Shopiere was in town Monday.

DREXEL MAUSOLEUM IN PHILADELPHIA,
Where the Remains of the Late George W. Childs Were Placed Beside His Friend.

News of Milton Junction.

MILTON JUNCTION, March 13.—On Friday night, March 9, at the residence of W. H. Gates, William Henry Babcock died of heart trouble, aged seventy-two years. The funeral services were held at the house on Monday, at two o'clock p. m., conducted by Rev. Bosworth. The remains will be taken to Darien, his former home, on Tuesday, for interment. J. H. Berkey, of Kansas, gave a temperance lecture at the M. E. church, Sunday evening, to a large audience. Mrs. Dell Reynolds, of Hebron, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. E. Van Lone, from Tuesday till Saturday of last week. Miss Anna Voight, our milliner, will leave for Chicago Tuesday for the purpose of selecting her spring stock. Two of George W. Coons children have been very sick with gastric fever for about two weeks, but at the present are considered to be out of danger. R. J. Greenman of the Junction News got his right hand caught in the steam press last Thursday and had a couple of fingers somewhat bruised. Mrs. Daniel Wood of Janesville is the guest of Mrs. David Kelly.

North Johnstown News.

NORTH JOHNSTOWN, March 13—Miss Jennie Spaulding, of Milton, is visiting Mrs. James Sprackling. Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Shumway, of Janesville, spent Sunday here. Mrs. H. R. Osborn was called to Whitewater last Wednesday to assist in the care of Frank Wheelers oldest child. The wind storm wrecked George Bennett's corn crib. Mr. Flansburg is loading his stock and household goods at Lima ready to start for his Dakota home on Tuesday. Mrs. Flansburg and son will visit her father, Mr. John McLane of Whitewater before they go. Mrs. Lerwell is some better. School closes in the Austin district this week. Mr. and Mrs. Holorook are going to move onto the farm and Mr. Sweet will work for him. Mr. Holt and wife and Mr. Holt's mother are going to Janesville to live. The Ladies Aid Society have added another lamp to those already given to the church.

Gossip From Shopiere.

SHOPIERE, March 13.—Presiding Elder Pease preached at the Methodist church on Sunday last. Frank Swingle delivered a good sermon at the Congregational church. Rev. Mr. Moses has been confined to the house by sickness. Mrs. John P. Fonda is failing fast. Richard Wolsey is expected here from Iowa and will occupy David Heald's house in Turtleville. Winfield Scott and wife of Milwaukee, visited here last week. D. Van Valen of Janesville, was here last week. Fred Parks of Lake Mills, made this place a short visit. A Good Templars lodge was organized here last Friday with twenty-five charter members. Charles Kemmerer's bronco ran away one day last week. The first game of base ball was played on Saturday. Farmers are plowing, one man has been making garden and another planting potatoes. Rye, clover and timothy have come through the winter in fine shape.

Short Notes From Lima.

LIMA, March 13—Mr. Newkirk, a blacksmith from Milton is moving here, and will run the shop formerly run by Ora Truman. The Methodist Ladies Aid society meet next Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Hoag. Mr. Smith of Augusta, Wis., is visiting his daughter, Mrs W. Frank Anderson.

News of Barker's Corners.

BARKER'S CORNERS, March 13—Mrs Bert Gage has several flocks of young chickens. Notwithstanding the mud was knee deep there were about forty at the Ladies Aid society last Thursday at Mrs. John Flagler's. They quilted off a quilt, made a dress and several other garments, besides sewing rags for a carpet. All for one dollar. On account of the grange meeting the society meets on Wednesday of next week instead of Thursday at Mrs. Charles Shoemaker's. Jule Barker has been quite poorly the past few weeks, he has been staying at his brother's, G. R. Barker. A big boom is expected at Barker's Corners about the first of April when the "Johnstown flood" arrives.

PASSED TO THEIR LAST ACCOUNT

Otis K Chapman Dead.

Otis King Chapman died at Marinette, Wisconsin, February 25, in his eighty-fifth year. Mr. Chapman was born in Greenwich, Conn., October 1809. In his earlier years he was a resident of Rochester, N. Y. He was a skilled machinist having invented a number of intricate pieces belonging to the steam engine. At one time he had ammassed quite a fortune. Mr. Chapman will be remembered by some of the old settlers here, he having lived a number of years on Main street. He was an earnest and active member of the Good Templars lodge and a regular attendant at the Unitarian church. He possessed many noble qualities, generous to a fault and a firm friend to the children. Many of them will always cherish a fond remembrance of "Uncle Otis." He leaves a wife in western New York and a daughter, Mrs. Lizzie Wemple, now residing in California.

Florence Anderson.

Little Florence, only child of Mr. and Mrs. W. Frank Anderson, of Lima, after nearly three weeks of intense suffering, with whooping cough and convulsions, quietly fell asleep in death, last Friday night. The skill of physicians and all that loving friends could do was done, and her young life went out to dwell in the presence of his God. The beautiful white casket was covered with flowers, emblems of the purity and innocence of the little one, whose short life of only seven months had entwined itself so closely around the parents hearts, and endeared herself to many friends, as was shown by the large concourse of people who met at the home on Sunday to pay the last tribute of respect to the little one. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Clark of Fulton and the remains were laid at rest in the Lima cemetery.

VOTERS OWE A DUTY TO THEIR COUNTRY.

EVERY ELECTOR SHOULD CAST HIS BALLOT ELECTION DAY.

Their Forefathers Made the Country, and It Devolves Upon the Present Generation To Perpetuate Their Work—"L. C." Writes The Gazette Upon This Point.

It is the duty of every republican in Janesville to attend the ward caucuses at 7:30 o'clock to night.

EDITOR GAZETTE: The great trouble in a judicial election is that the people do not stop to think of its importance. It is the duty of all electors to cast a ballot for judge and in this respect I wish to say a word through your valuable paper to the republican voters of Rock county. For some years past they have been neglecting the elective franchise and staying at home on election day, thinking that one vote didn't amount to much any way, but it is the duty of every man of lawful age to cast a ballot, especially, at general elections. In some states a fine is imposed for neglect of this duty, and I don't know but what this is a good law. To the young man I would say: "Do you know or realize what a grand good thing it is to be a citizen of the United States; and do you know what makes this a free government to-day? The votes of your fathers, and uncles and other relatives. Perhaps they are all gone, but you know they have done a good work They are the men when this nation was in financial and political distress, that took this government by the boot straps and lifted it up and made it a nation respected by all. Now when you come to think of how much they have done for you, can't you share a little of your time to go to the polls and vote for good men and to sustain what your forefathers have given you? To all the young men of this country I would say one political party, and but one political party, in this government, are trying to carry this nation to the top of that ladder that Jacob saw in his dream. All other parties by whatever names they are called are trying to carry it; I don't know where for their ladder hangs on the edge of a precipice.

The past year's management of this government ought to be a great educator to the electors. If the policy of the last twelve months is continued, how long do you imagine it will take this government to get out of the cesspool it is now in? Somebody must put their shoulders to the wheel. Now who must do this work? The decendants, if they have any manhood left in them of the ones that have always stood by this government in its direst distress. Will you do it? Will you come out and vote and by your ballot stop this farce that is making thousand of people hungry? It is the duty of every elector to inspect carefully the material that is presented for office from president down to pathmaster and attend the primarys and see to it that proper material is nominated for office. By doing this we will have a better government managed by intelligence instead of imbecility. L. C.

RECORDER UNFAIR TO THE JUDGE.

"A Lover of Justice" Denounces the Slurring and Unjust Articles.

DDITOR GAZETTE: I am out of all kinds of patience with the way Judge Bennett is spoken of in the Recorder. If they are not making a political matter of what certainly should not be so considered, I should like to know what they call it. Judge Bennett has lived among us for many years; is beloved for his honest, cordial helpfulness and kindliness by the better class of all who know him. He wrongs no one, assists many. Why should not his friends sign a paper circulated in his behalf? If any think him too far advanced in years for the work required, let them ask for Mr. Smith or any other good lawyer as judge, but let them for decency's sake stop at once their disgraceful way of speaking of a good and highly respected christian gentleman.

Why should not a "young democrat" or any body else, show a check of the judge's as a reason for anxiety to get names on his paper? Now when so few people are paying their bills the fact that this young man has received his money is a pretty fair reason for wishing to do a friendly act. Why should not the man who earns an honest living in caring for horses and other such work, if he is intelligent enough to be interested in this matter, why should he not circulate a paper in the interest of his just and generous employer? Why should not his nephew sign his paper? If he had not, those who object to his doing so, would have been the first to find fault. I do not pretend to know who should be judge, but I do know that nasty little flings at either candidates are very much out of place. A LOVER OF JUSTICE.

SMITH PLAYING BOTH SENDS.

In One County Non Partisan But In Others Straight Democratic.

Max Pfenig has written a communication to the German democratic paper in Watertown, urging the democrats of Jefferson county to elect William Smith judge of the Twelfth judicial circuit in place of Judge Bennett. Mr. Pfennig tells the Jefferson county Germans that Judge Bennett favored and supported the Bennett law and William Smith opposed it. In Jefferson county the democratic committee is making a party fight for Mr. Smith. In Rock and Green counties they play the non-partizan dodge, excepting in townships where their party is in the majority.

REPUBLICAN CITY CONVENTION

It Will Be Held Friday--Ward Caucuses Come on Wednesday Night.

The republican party of the city of Janesville will assemble by their delegates in the common council chamber on Friday, March 16, at 1:30 p. m., for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for the several city offices to be elected at the ensuing municipal election, and for any business which may properly come before the convention. Under the new apportionment, allowing one delegate for every fifty republican votes or a majority fraction thereof, cast at the last presidential election each ward will be entitled to delegates as follows: First ward, 7; Second ward 5; Third ward, 7; Fourth ward 5; Fifth ward 3. By order of the republican city committee.

C. S. JACKMAN,
Chairman.

Republican Ward Caucuses.

The republicans of the city of Janesville are respectfully invited to assemble in caucus in their respective wards on Wednesday, March 14, at 7:30 o'clock p. m., to place in nomination candidates for ward officers, select delegates to the city republican convention and consider any business properly brought before the caucuses. The caucuses will be held in the several wards at the following places:

First ward—at the west side fire station.

Second ward—at the east side fire station.

Third ward—at the court house.

Fourth ward—at council chamber.

Fifth ward—George H. Castner's office, corner of Holmes street and Centre avenue.

By order of ward committees.

Rhea as Josephine.

Rhea, in the role of Josephine, is winning new laurels every day. As she is coming to Janesville soon the Philadelphia Enquirer's tribute to her is of interest. The Enquirer says:

"A large and enthusiastic audience greeted her first appearance of the season in the play, 'Josephine, Empress of the French,' at the Grand Opera House. The character of Napoleon's discarded wife is one which is exactly suited to Madame Rhea's genius and enables her to run all the gamut of passion, strength, tenderness and weakness which she knows so well how to interpret. She was frequently treated to outbursts of admiring enthusiasm and was given several warm recalls.

The Napoleon of Mr. Hart is one of the heroic parts that he does best, and his reputation in the role needs no extension. Excellent supporting work was done by Mr. Palmer as Talleyrand, Mr. MacDonald as Fouche, Miss Minnie Bowen as Pauline Bonaparte, and Miss Isabel Bowen as Maria Louise."

HE IS AN ABLE BODIED MAN

He Has Never Been Sick in His Life and Is Strong and Robust.

THIS MAN LAUGHED AT DISEASE.

Here is a strong, robust man who has never known a day's sickness in his life.

He has always laughed at disease and made fun of medicine and doctors.

"Why," he said the other day while talking with a fellow workman, "better wear thicker soled shoes, eh: or I will have catarrh.

"Not much I am too tough to get anything.

"Why I eat three square meals a day, sleep all night and get up in the morning feeling refreshed, and enjoy my breakfast before going to work.

"No Sir; there's no danger of my getting catarrh or any other disease, I am too tough.

This man little dreamed of the fate that was in store for him.

When a man's strong and hearty he is more apt to be careless about himself.

It is only when a man begins to go down hill that he realizes that he is not as tough and disease-proof as he thought he was.

The men who often appear the strongest and most robust are often the quickest to go to pieces when disease strikes them, and the quickest way to the cemetery is to get catarrh and neglect it.

Neglected catarrh is the most frequent cause of consumption; and consumption kills 141,000 people in the United States everp year.

HAS HE GOT CATARRH ?

He Does't Know, But Begins to Feel Badly About the Nose and Throat.

NASAL CATARRH.

"How is this?

"My nose began to itch, it felt awfully full, and it nearly stopped up.

"I have severe pains across the front of my head, my eyes are watery.

"I want to sneeze a great deal. I have cold creepy chills running down my back, and my bones and joints ache.

"Some one told me it was only a cold, others tell me I am getting catarrh

"I don't know what it is, but I feel terribly bad, only yesterday my throat began to feel dry and husky, and I had a tickling sensation as though there was a horsehair in it.

"Last night a dropping began in the back of my throat which bothered me most when I was lying down in bed.

"I feel pretty well in the middle of the day, but now toward night my nose has stopped up again, my voice is husky.

"My throat feels a little sore, feels like it was closing up and I want to be clearing it all the time.

"I found when I went to bed that first one side of my nose, then the other would close up entirely, so I could not breathe through it at all.

"I find my sense of smell is leaving me and my hearing is getting bad.

"I drop off to sleep only to wake up frequently which I find is caused by a dropping of mucus in the back of my throat.

"I have bad dreams at night and wake up in the morning not a bit refreshed, but feeling more tired than when I went to bed."

HE BEGINS TO GAG AND VOMIT

Mucus Drops Down His Throat and Poisons His Stomach.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH.

"Now when I get up in the morning my throat is filled with nasty slime, which dropped there in the night; this gives me a bad taste in my mouth.

"I have to hawk a great deal to rid my throat of this offensive stuff and this makes me gag and sometimes vomit; the result of this is I have a disgust for food and I cannot eat but little if any breakfast.

"This is not the worst however as during the night I swallow a lot of this nasty stuff which collects in my throat, which the doctor says coats over the food I eat, keeps it from digesting and that the food rots in my stomach and forms a lot of gas, which bloats me up and I belch up a quantity of bad tasting wind.

"I believe a lot of this poisonous stuff is absorbed into my system as I feel sick at my stomach.

"Sometimes I have cramps.

"I am costive, have a coated tongue, feel dizzy and have a rush of blood to the head.

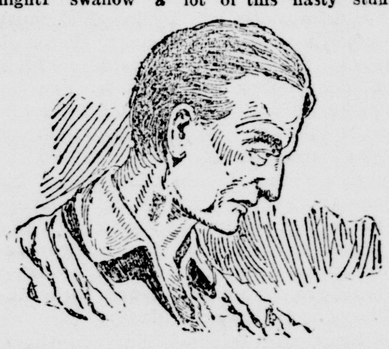

"I bloat up at times so I can hardly breathe and fell as if I would smother.

"I have pain in the lower part of my back and across the kidneys.

"My hands and feet are cold and when not they sweat and feel clammy.

"I feel that I am growing nervous and weaker all the time.

"The doctor told me today that I had Catarrh of the Stomach.

HE IS COUGHING HIS HEAD OFF

His Bronchial Tubes Stopped Up and Gasping For Breath.

BRONCHIAL CATARRH

"I did not doctor much for my sickness as some days I felt first rate and thought it would wear off, but it did not.

"I gradually got worse, caught fresh colds and now I find my nose discharges a great deal.

"Scabs come from it; sometimes pus and a little blood are blown out, the back part of my throat feels rough.

"I hawk up a great deal of phlegm.

"There is a roaring or buzzing sound in my ears.

"Besides this my breath smells bad and my voice is so changed I often seem to talk through my nose.

"I believe this plaguey disease has gone down into my windpipe and into my bronchial tubes, as I feel at times all stuffed up as though the air had hard work finding its way into my lungs.

"I am a little short of breath, I find if I go up stairs quickly or walk fast.

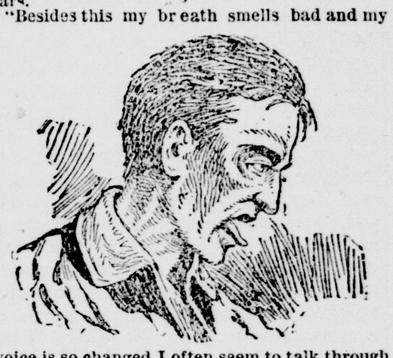

"I have a dull pain in my chest behind the breast bone and under my shoulder blade, this pain goes and comes, lasts a few days and then is gone a few more only to return again.

"I have a dry cough, that comes on in spells, is a hacking cough mostly, and bothers me most at night.

"At first I only raised a little tough mucus with the cough and caused me great difficulty in bringing it up.

"Now I raise considerable and I find that I cough most on going to bed and arising in the morning.

"As soon as the cold air strikes me with my clothes off, it starts me coughing."

NEW HORRORS ARE ADDED.

Staring Death In the Face, Night After Night, Day After Day.

CONSUMPTION.

"I have gone from bad to worse.

"Now I have fits of coughing so severe that it often makes me vomit.

"The stuff I raise is mixed with yellow which the doctor says indicates that the small tubes of my lungs are affected.

"The material I raise now is sometimes mixed with blood.

"I spit up at times little cheesy balls that when pressed between the fingers emit a bad odor.

"My stomach is very weak and I don't care for nor enjoy my food which seems to have lost its taste.

"My voice often becomes weak, husky and hoarse.

"There is a burning pain in my throat and difficulty in swallowing

"I cough a great deal at night. At times I'm compelled to sit up in bed most of the night in order to get my breath.

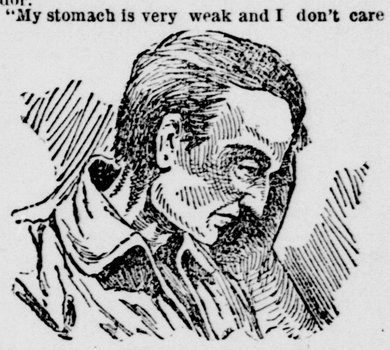

"I feel that if I did not sit up I would smother

"I have lost flesh steadily until now I do not weigh nearly as much as I did before I was taken sick.

"I have night sweats so badly that my clothes feel in the morning as though I could wring water out of them

"My kidneys trouble me a great deal.

"I have got up at night frequently, and my bowels are often loose, sometimes I have diarrhea which can't be checked."

DEATH ENDS HIS SUFFERING

May be Six It Comesin Months. Maybe Not For Six Years

DEATH.

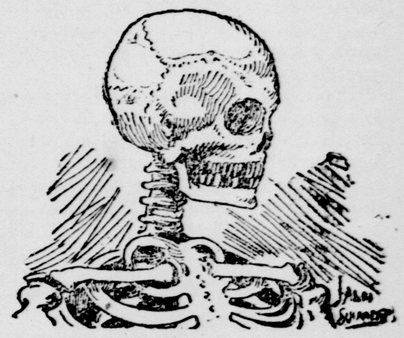

Death comes at last.

It is all over now.

The boastful, able bodied man who laughed at disease and poohed poohed doctors and medicines, little dreamed what an enemy he had in Catarrh.

It is to be hoped his sad history will be a warning to others.

Remember this:

Catarrh leads to the majority of cases of consumption and Consumption kills one out of every seven persons born.

Consumption kills 140,000 people every year in the United State.

Have your Catarrh cured and you need not fear Consumption.

The history of this man's disease was:

A neglected Cold,

Then Catarrh of the head and throat,

Followed by Catarrh of the stomach and bronchial Catarrh.

And last of all,

Catarrh of the lungs;

In other words Consumption,

Which means death.

There are four unique mountains in Lower California, two of alum, one of alum and sulphur mixed, and one of pure sulphur. It is estimated that in the four peaks named there are 100,000,000 tons of pure alum and 1,000,000 tons of pure sulphur.

It is reported from the United States of Columbia that the enormous tamarind tree which shaded the country houses at San Pedro Alejandrino, in which Bolivar lived during his last days of misfortune, was blown down during a recent storm.

The tallow tree, one of the most useful plants in China, has two or three representatives in our Southern states. The latter, however, are shrubs, while the former is a true tree. The tree is valuable to the Chinese for several purposes. Its seeds are thickly covered with a fatty substance, which, when steamed, produces a fat resembling tallow, greatly esteemed for candle making. The seeds themselves yield, by pressing, a fine liquid oil. The tree produces a hard wood, which the natives use for printing blocks, while its leaves make a fine black dye.

QUIPS AND CRANKS.

Willy Slim—How much can I get on this overcoat? Uncle—About as much as you have paid on it, I guess.

"I believe in love at first sight." "Why?" "Because at the first sight you don't really know the girl."

Indignant Old Lady—Your boys are constantly throwing apples at people, and you do not stop them. Farmer—Why should I? We have plenty of them this year.

The Ink Stand—The postage stamps bet the envelopes this morning that they would never be licked. The Pen-Wiper—How did it come out? "Oh, the stamps got stuck!"

"Who is that talking in the next room in such a high key?" "That's McChatter. He's trying to negotiate a loan." "What a pity it is that a man can't raise money as easily as he can raise his voice."

Mrs. Benedict—You don't think so much of me, Charlie, as you used to before we were married. Mr. B.—Of course not, Carrie. You and I, you know, are one now, and it would be egotistical to think too much of one's self.

Father Morality—Thus saith the scripture: "Six days shalt thou labor, but on the seventh thou shalt rest." Greenisle—Faith an' as there's been a contryvarsy about which is the rale Sabbath, to be shure Oi've made up me moind to rest the whole sivin.

Circus Manager—I tell you, fellows, when those masked robbers boarded the train, and with rifles and pistols leveled at our heads, told us to hold up our hands, we all did! Voice from the Rear—I didn't. Manager—Who spoke? Chorus of Freaks—The Armless Wonder.

"Mr. Courtney asked me to marry him last night," she blushingly told her mother. "And what did you tell him?" "I told him to ask you." "Ask me?" echoed the startled parent. "Why, Mary, surely you wouldn't have your dear old mother commit bigamy, would you?"

A PROPOSED MUTINY.

An Effort at the Desperate Game During the Franco-Prussian War.

Under the title of "The Word of Honor of a French General" the Cologne Gazette publishes a curious story of General de Bauffremont, whose death was recently announced. According to that paper General Bauffremont was one of the numerous band of French officers who, after being captured during the war of 1870, were allowed to reside on parole at Bonn. Not very far off, at the camps of Wahn and Gremburg, near Cologne and Coblentz, were many thousands of prisoners of war belonging to the rank and file of the French army.

In the course of November, 1870, a French agent went about among these soldiers trying to induce them to join in an attempt to escape and to march to France in order to fall on the rear of the German army, and the like overtures were made to some of the officers at Bonn. A number of chassepots and cartridges were actually smuggled into Germany from France. On hearing that some of the French officers were inclined to countenance the project General de Bauffremont gave information to General von Bittenfeld, governor of the province, who instantly took such measures as prevented the proposed rising.

He Wanted to Know.

A little boy whose experience with elevators has been a very limited one was brought into the city a few days ago by his mamma, and in the course of two or three hours' shopping the little fellow was taken up and down in different stores a good many times.

Finally the two went in an office building, took chairs in a rather small room and waited.

"Where are we now, mamma?" asked the boy.

"In Uncle Rob's office."

He glanced around the rather contracted quarters and then asked:

"When does it go up?" — Texas Siftings.

Spoiled His Calculations.

"Don't you like the room I gave you?" said the hotel clerk to the drummer from Cincinnati.

"Yes, the room's all right. What made you ask? Do I look worried?"

"To be frank, you do."

"Well, I am feeling rather uncomfortable. You see I came over on the S. L. O. and W. road."

"Got in late, I suppose."

"No, we got in on time, and now I have about two and one-half hours on my hands that I don't know what to do with."—Washington Star.

Quericus—So the doctor saved his life?

Cynicus — His poverty, rather, I should say. He was too poor to have the prescriptions filled.—Judge.

Life or Death?

It is of vital importance that it should be understood by persons whose kidneys are inactive that this condition of things is finally inductive of a state of the organs where life hangs in the balance. Bright's disease, diabetes, albuminuria are all diseases of a very obstinate character in their mature stage, and all have a fatal tendency. They often baffle the most practised medical skill, and the most approved remedies of materia medica. But opposed at the outset—that is to say, when the kidneys begin to discharge their function inactively, with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the dangerous tendency is checked. Very useful, also, is this household medicine for those ailments of common occurrence, constipation, biliousness, dyspepsia and nervousness. It is a safeguard against malaria and averts chronic rheumatism.

WHISKERS HIS PRIDE.

A Tiger Died of a Broken Heart Because He Had Lost Them.

"It is all well enough," said Professor Darling, "to oblige many young women who are anxious to have a lion's whisker as a sort of talisman, but I do not propose to render the five animals which I have positively useless."

Professor Darling stood in front of his cage at Hagenbeck's with his big brutes huddled up closely to the iron bars waiting to be caressed. For some time he has been pestered to death by personal applications and by letters asking for "just one lion whisker" until his mail has become a burden to him, and, as he pulled the long bristle-like appendages from the mouths of his lions, he said:

"Once a lion loses his whiskers he is practically ruined, not only so far as his appearance goes, but for his usefulness as well. I know one little instance of this," added the professor. "It was in the Imperial zoological garden at Schonbrunn, in Germany. Carl Hagenbeck had purchased at the command of the imperial government one of the handsomest tigers I ever saw in all my life. He was most beautifully marked and had long flowing whiskers. The beast was very ferocious and had to be handled with the utmost care. At Mr. Hagenbeck's request, I went with him to help put the tiger in the permanent cage in the zoo.

"The tiger traveled in a box with bars in front, and when the destination was reached the box was packed up against the permanent cage and the door opened to allow the tiger to enter, but budge he would not. We worked at him for hours and nothing would induce the animal to move out of his traveling cage. To make a long story short, we starved that animal for three days, with great pieces of meat lying just outside of his cage, but it did no good. We then tried that remedy which is often tried on wild beasts, although few people know of it, 'the hose-pipe,' and we drenched that tiger, but this did not have any more effect upon him than the use of an atomizer on a woman's hair.

"Things were getting in a very desperate state, for with the starvation and chill Mr. Hagenbeck feared that he would lose his tiger, so he determined to try the last resort—fire. A newspaper was lighted and thrust into the cage. The tiger turned with a spring and grabbed the fire right in his mouth, and as he did so singed off all of his whiskers. The fire proved remedial and the animal darted into the cage intended for him, and you may believe me or not, but that animal with the loss of his whiskers lost all of his pride. The imperial government paid an enormous price for him, but from the day that he lost his whiskers he never would face the crowd of people who came to see him, but he would hide his face in actual shame, and finally died. Mr. Hagenbeck, than whom there is no greater authority on such subjects, declared that he died of a broken heart caused by the humiliation of his pride.

"A lion's or a tiger's whiskers, when once taken off, never grow out again. These beasts shed their hair once a year ordinarily, all except the whiskers. Their shedding depends entirely upon the climate, and there is a very peculiar fact connected with the shedding of this hair, and that is that I never knew a lion or a tiger or any other animal of the cat species to go through the Red sea without shedding. I have seen animals shed at Suakim and come out with hair as fresh and glossy as silk, and yet going through the Red sea they will shed again. No one can account for it, but it is a fact nevertheless. This explains to you," said the professor, as he gave a parting pat to his pet Leo, "why I have been accused of being ungallant in not giving whiskers from my pets to ladies for charms, but I do not propose to have my lions injured or their pride humiliated."

Satan's Easy Time.

S. S. Teacher, explaining the subtle influence of Satan—Why is it that a boy will pass by the fruit in his own yard and take the same sort of fruit, not a whit better, from a neighbor's tree? Boy—'Cause if yeh take y'r own fruit y'r father will lick yeh, but if yeh take the neighbor's fruit the neighbor dasn't lick yeh, 'cause your father will get mad and lick him.—Good News.

The Critics Humbled.

Manager—The critics say that in the play "A Wrongde Wife" you don't exhibit enough emotion when your husband leaves you, never to return.

Popular Actress—Oh, I don't, don't I? Well, I've had two or three husbands leave me, never to return, and I guess I know as much about how to act under those circumstances as anybody.—Puck.

SOME WELL KNOWN FACES.

A Boy King's Troubles.

Alexander, the boy king of Servia, who is just now in such political hot water, is but 17 years of age. His father, Milan, while engaged in unsuccessful wars with Turkey and Bulgaria, married Natalie, a beautiful Russian girl, squandered millions in dissipation and treated Natalie so badly that she fled to Russia, taking their child, the present king, with her.

ALEXANDER.

The king secured a divorce, abdicated in favor of Alexander in 1889, and the boy was to rule through a regency until he was 18, when he was to be crowned king. Last April young Alexander suddenly exiled the regents and took the reins in his own hands.

Take Heed.

There are many physicians who possess no ability whatever. Consequently you should call on some one who has been cured of an ailment similar to your own and adopt the same method as they did. Dr. McChesney accepts no incurable cases. He has under his care over one hundred patients who with one accord proclaim him to be the most successful physician who ever treated them. They will tell you that words are inadequate to express their gratitude to him. He has done for them what some of the most noted physicians in the country failed to do. In conversation with one of them the other day he remarked to us, "I suffered constantly for six years, I was told I had consumption, I would have bleeding of the lungs, a very bad cough, with a nasty expectoration, night sweats, loss of flesh, shortness of breath, pain in chest extending back under my shoulder blades. I could not retain anything on my stomach. I would have a distressing cough at night, and so could not sleep. I was advised by my family physician to change climate. He said it was the only thing that would save me. I did so, but derived no benefit from the change. I had spent thousands of dollars in trying to get cured, and found no relief. I consulted Dr. McChesney. He at once began to treat me for catarrh, and I noticed the good effect of his medicines at once; and now the bleeding has all stopped; the cough has left me; and I have no more night sweats. I have increased in flesh, my stomach is in a healthy condition, the shortness of my breath is gone, I have no pains and am again able to resume my work, and am a happy and grateful man. I advise all who are in need of medical treatment to consult this able specialist, and thereby save time, money and worry. Dr. McChesney removed the cause of my sickness, he helped me and can help you." His office is in the Wilcox block, opposite Hotel Myers.

Fanny Rice Tomorrow Night.

The management of the Myers Grand are to be congratulated on having secured an engagement with that versatile and vivacious little comedienne, Fanny Rice, who will appear with her company of comedians and vocalists in the third and funniest edition of that side splitting musical absurdity, "A Jolly Surprise." preceeded by the charming operetta, "A Little Broom Seller" tomorrow night. Miss Rice does not need any introduction to theatre goers. Her three years as prima donna of the Carleton Opera Company, her memorable engagement at the New York Casino and her successful starring tour in "A Jolly Surprise" form a record of which any actress might be proud.

ABOUT OPERA BOUFFE.

Mme. Theo, the Charming French Diva, Has Her Say.

Theophile Gautier says somewhere that pantomime is the foundation of the drama. Esprit is as truly the backbone of opera bouffe. It exists by its wit, singing and dancing and talking itself into favor whenever it is given a bearing.

To comic opera as it is known in England and in this country, opera of the style of Sir Arthur Sullivan, weighted down with Gilbertian mirth, opera bouffe bears no relationship. The former is picturesquely funny, its humor grotesque and droll, but the gorgeous Mikado, the love-sick maidens in yellow-green gowns, even charming little Buttercup could not amuse an audience at the Bouffes or the Folies Dramatiques like La Jolie Parfumeuse, Mme. l'Archiduc or La Fille du Tambour-Major.

MME. THEO.

Opera bouffe is a product peculiar to France, indigenous to Paris. It flourishes elsewhere, not with the exuberance it does there, but in a way, however, thrifty enough to fill managerial pockets. It must originate in Paris, have the chic which nothing but Parisian clothing of ideas in snappy, if occasionally somewhat risque dialogue, will give it.

Its plot has something on which to hang, and around that central idea, a quantity of daintily-attired nothings, in brightest, flimsiest and airiest of dress, vibrate to music which has the sparkle and effervescence particularly agreeable to Gallic palates. The story scintillates, snaps; the music keeps up a correspondingly gay pace, and both go on merrily, making jests of serious matters, and fun even of history, as in the case of "La Belle Helene."

MLLE. D'ARY.

The Demure Little Maiden Who Has Kicked Herself Into Fame.

A demure, mild-mannered, soft-voiced young woman is Mlle. Arman d'Ary, the well-known "chanteuse Parisienne," who recently made her American debut in New York.

MLLE. ARMAN D'ARY.

Her method is dainty rather than suggestive, her personality a most charming one and her costumes marvels of coloring and brilliancy. Mlle. d'Ary does not dance; if she did it would rob her of her great charm, composure; but she has a kick that is a marvel of agility as it is sensational in its unexpectedness.

Abroad Mlle. d'Ary is recognized as the one great rival of Vanoni.

SPORTING SPLINTERS.

Milligan and Baldwin have been notified of their release by the New Yorks.

Phil King and Trenchard have started to train for the Princeton baseball team.

Ex-player James O'Rourke has, it is reported, been decided upon for the umpire corps by President Young.

Managed Ed Hanlon has bet $500 with Al Johnson of the Cleveland club, that the Orioles would finish ahead of the Clevelands this season. The money has been deposited with Frank J. Simpson of the St. James hotel.

THE DIAMOND.

Boston will not have Pitcher Sexton this year.

Pittsburg will admittedly have a "banner" team the coming season with colors of red, white and blue.

Manager Buckenberger of Pittsburg was formerly a second baseman. He has been a manager since 1886.

Anson says he will play first base for the Chicago club the coming season, despite all reports to the contrary.

Manager Hanlon is making arrangements to take his Baltimore team on a southern trip, starting March 24.

CRICKET.

A Massachusetts cricket association is to be organized. A committee of seven from various clubs have been appointed to draw up a constitution.

An English cricket team will visit Australia in the autumn under the management of A. E. Stoddard. This gentleman was asked to undertake the task, as Lord Sheffield declined to repeat his visit to the colonies of 1891-92. Preliminary steps have already been taken in furtherance of the scheme.

The Brighton Gun club and the Roseville Gun club held a shoot on the grounds of the former in East Orange, Feb. 22. The Brighton club won by 103 to 88.

DISTINGUISHED PEOPLE.

Hamlin Garland says that James Whitcomb Riley sold $30,000 worth of his poetry last year.

A tablet to the memory of Gen. Alexander McDougall, the revolutionary soldier and patriot, has been dedicated by his descendants in the First Presbyterian church of New York.

Rider Haggard's English estate embraces 200 acres of farm lands, the intelligent study of which has made the novelist an expert authority on crops and other agricultural matters.

Miss Sparrow, a London journalist, took it into her head to sweep a crossing, just to see what it was like. It was Lady Georgiana Fullerton who once performed the same act, in order to allow the regular sweeper to attend mass.

William Harring von Ammon, who died recently in San Francisco, is said to be the man who first introduced into the United States the art of lithographing in colors. He was a native of Prussia and was eighty-two years old.

F. Hopkinson Smith told the people of Boston in a lecture about magazine illustrators that for himself "he would rather touch a million hearts with a fine drawing than receive the Salon's medal of honor for a painting six feet high.

Professor W. S. Lytle of Hickory township, Mercer county, Pennsylvania, is thought to be the oldest school teacher in that state. He began teaching in 1839, and has taught ninety terms. He is as alert to-day as most men of forty.

Senor Don Austin Maldorado, his two brothers and his sister, all living in Madrid, Spain, have been officially recognized by the Mexican government as descendants of the Aztec king, Montezuma, and are to be allowed pensions accordingly.

Lieutenant Michael Moore, retired, of Brooklyn, is the oldest living officer of the United States army, which he entered in 1812 as a musician in the Thirteenth infantry. His name still being on the army list, he is considered still in the service, in which he has spent eighty-two years.

Edward Eggleston says that he used to feel compunctions about neglecting to answer requests for autographs when stamps were inclosed, until he told Lowell of his scruples, and Lowell said: "I asked Emmerson what he did about autograph letters and he replied: 'They are my main dependence for postage stamps.' After that," said Lowell, "I was demoralized."

SKITS AND SQUIBS.

He—Give me a kiss, won't you? She, hesitatingly—Well, I will if you won't give it away.

"Going to make your hotel larger?" "Yes," answered the hotelkeeper. "It will be more innkeeping.

She—Don't you think Miss Nice is an intellectual-looking girl? He—Why, no; I think she is quite pretty.

Mrs. Noear—Do you think my daughter will be a musician? Professor—I gant zay madame. She may. She dell me she gome of a long-lived vamily.

Washington's Great Difficulty.

Mrs. Kings-Dorter, impressing one of her proteges—Be brave and earnest and you will succeed. Do you remember my telling you of the great difficulty George Washington had to contend with? Willy Raggs—Yes, mum; he couldn't tell a lie.—Puck.

Large Hands and Feet.

Professor Lambroso, the Italian scientist, concludes after investigation that women of the criminal and immoral type are invariably larger of hand and feet and smaller in the head than average women.

New Australia.

Two hundred Australians under the leadership of William Lane, are founding a "New Australia" in Paraguay. The colony proposes to settle 400 families in the country within a year.

A Whimsical Chap.

Once tried to quote Bulwer (was it Bulwer?) and said, "Great aches from little toe corns grow," and altho' he didn't exactly quote he got there, got there as it were, with both feet, at least with a part of both.

"Toe be or not to be,' said Shakespeare, (or Bacon?) and he toe, may not be far off. Foot it over hill and dale, 'til you are weary and footsore, and you cannot find such bargains as we offer in building sites, Homesites, for on these and the prices of the same and terms, too, we always did "toe the mark." For some reason we are this spring getting onto the goods, the prices and the terms with both feet. And so, with Hamlet we soliloquize.: "The wonder grows", why people are not "up in arms" when the prices we quote are looked into. You can get a home, if you wish, so long as we are in the business; hard times don't count. If you are not earning so much money as you did last year, we will meet you; it don't matter.

Homesites and Homes are our fad; to help people get 'em is what we are on earth for, this time.

The main secret, we suppose, why we always get the major part of the real estate trade going, is that we own a large part of the property that we offer. Another part of the secret is, we deal every time so that our customer sends to us his or her friend when they want to deal.

Our beginnings here were not large, but so true it is that "Great oaks from little acorns grow," that the "birds of the air" have their homes,—build their nests,—in the result of our grain of mustard seed. Come over and roost with us. Yours very truly,

GEO. L. & SARAH H. CARRINGTON.

REPUBLICANS FREE FROM BITTERNESS.

CAMPAIGN IS HOT, BUT GOOD FEELING PREVAILS.

The Contest Between Michael Murphy and James A. Fathers For the City Treasurership Is the Most Spirited One—All Should Go to the Caucuses To-Night.

It is the duty of every republican in Janesville to attend the ward caucuses at 7:30 o'clock to-night.

While local politics is at fever heat today good feeling prevails everywhere. The republicans are bringiug for exceptiona'ly good men for places on their ward tickets and it would seem almost impossible to fail in making exceptionally strong nominations. The main struggle is centered on the delegates to the city convention, the contest being between Michael Murphy and James A. Fathers, both of whom have many enthusiastic friends at their backing. Candidates for other places on the city ticket are quiet in the canvass for delegates, preferring chances of seeing the delegates after the caucuses have selected them.

There will be much work for the ward committees this year, and men should be selected who will take an interest in the work, as much of party success depends upon them and too much care cannot be used in selecting them. Everything so far indicates that success is certain for the republicans, and in voicing this belief The Gazette urges republican voters in every ward in the city to attend the primary meetings this evening.

FORTY YOUNG REPUBLICANS JOIN.

Enthusiastic Meeting of the Young Men's Club Last Night.

Forty enthusiastic young republicans signed the membership roll of the Young Men's Republican Club at the meeting held at Justice Sloan's office last night and they were all enthusiastic. The button of the National League of Republican clubs was adopted as the insignia of the organization and a committee was appointed to procure them for the members. A committee consisting of W. A. Jackson, John T. Wilcox and Myron F. Green was appointed to plan entertainment for the meeting to be held Friday evening, Merch 23, at the municipal court room. The resignation of Frank Horning as treasurer of the club was received, Mr. Horning saying that he had not the time to devote to the work and C. H. Gage was elected in his place. The meeting showed that the young men were on the right track and that they proposed to stay there too.

CIGAR MAKERS ARE REPUBLICANS

Wilson Tariff Bill Causes Local Manufacturers to Bolt.

Every cigar maker in town has jumped the democratic track and are now enrolled upon the republican side. The fact that the democrats broke faith with them on the trriff bill and added an internal revenue that will make it necessary for the manufactures to do one of three things. Either he must cut wages, make a poorer cigar or put the price of cigars up. People who have been smoking some favorite brand will complain if the price goes up or if the cigar is poorer quality, while the workmen will complain if the increased tax comes out of his pocket. The question is one of great importance to the cigar men as an advance of a dollar or two a thousand cigars makes a big item in a year.

ALL SHOULD ATTEND CAUCUSES.

Every Republican Turn Out Tonight and Nominate Good Men.

Every citizen is interested in the results of the republican caucuses this evening. It is therefore hoped and expected that every republican in the city will attend and express his preferences for candidates. Full caucuses always produce confidence, even if the party is divided closely in making choice of candidates. No unmanly advantage should be permitted, and the meetings should be governed solely for the purpose of selecting candidates preferable to the majority, and when candidates are thus selected it is the duty of the minority to cheerfully give their support.

TELL REPORTERS ALL YOU KNOW

hey Do Not Think People Forward Who Do So.

The modesty of man causes the newspaper to lose many an item. A large number of people hesitate to tell reporters of matters concerning themselves. Not that they do not want to appear in print, but they are afraid they would be pushing themselves forward. That is wrong. From a reporter's standpoint the man who will stop a newspaper reporter on the street and inform him that he has been to Chicago, that he is going to get married, or his wife entertained friends from a distance is the dearest man on earth. May his like increase throughout the earth. If you have done anything mean or disreputable it isn't necessary to tell it, for there are always plenty of people who will do that for you. It's the good things about yourself and neighbors that the newspaper man likes for you to give him.

GEORGE WOODRUFF IS HOME AGAIN

Janesville Man Returns From the Horse Marts of Louisiana.

George Woodruff returned home last evening from Louisiana where he had been with a car load of horses. Mr. Woodruff met many prominent men in that state and was able to gain much political knowledge. He says there are but few people, even among the democrats, who advocate the free trade policy of the present administration, while nearly all are outspoken in their advocacy of the McKinley law.

HENRY C. STEARNS is one of the happiest men in the First ward today, not on account of the many who are booming him for the aldermanic nomination this evenihg, but for the little boy that arrived at his home this morning. Mr. Stearns says the little fellow will be at the polls in the spring of 1915 with a republican ticket.

JOHN H LEAS, the Sunday school missionary who has been in Allamakee county, Iowa, has returned to Rock county. He has been successful in the financial work and has placed a union Sunday school missionary in Allamakee. He requests all Sunday school workers of Rock county to inform him if any special work is needed. Address him Janesville, Wis.

F. W. LOUDON LOSES HEAVILY BY FIRE.

DEPARTMENT HAD A FRUITLESS TWO-MILE RUN.

Blaze Three-Quarters of a Mile From the Water Mains, So That a Stream Could Not Be Used—The Barn, Sheds, Tobacco and Tools Destroyed.

It is the duty of every republican in Janesville to attend the ward caucuses at 7:30 o'clock to-night.

Frank W. Loudon's tobacco shed, barn, granery and ten acres of tobacco, a quantity of hay, grain and farming tools were destroyed by fire shortly after one o'clock this afternoon. The loss will amount to several hundred dollars.

The origin of the fire is unknown. When first seen the entire barn was enveloped in flames. The horses were let out unharmed, and while some one started off for box 12, fully one mile distant, others worked with pails to save adjoining property. The department finding the fire fully three-quarters of a mile distant from water mains did not attempt to put a stream of water on it. However, the patrol went to the scene and assisted in removing a quantity of corn from the burning building. The buildings were all completely destroyed. Silas Hayner had $600 on the tobacco, and $500 on the buildings. It was nearly a two-mile run for the fire department, but the covered the distance in good time.

JANESVILLE LAWYERS AT MONROE.

Ogden H. Fathers and William Smith Have a Case Before Judge Bennett.

Attorneys William Smith and Ogden H. Fethers are on opposide sides of an action that is being tried before Judge Bennett at Monroe. The case is that of William Aspell against the village of Albany. The plaintiff sues to recover damages alleged to have been sustained by falling on an icy sidewalk on February 27, 1893. His leg was broken, his knee, ankle and hip injured and his back strained. He places his damages at $5,000. The defense claims the plaintiff had "three sheets in the wind and the fourth fluttering." That he never was on the sidewalk, but that he was in the road and fell in trying to get on the sidewalk.

Y. M. C. A. RECEPTION ENJOYED

Good Program and Other Pleasing Features of Last Night's Meeting

Pleasant indeed was the concert and reception given to the young men of the city by the Ladies' Auxiliary at Hibernia hall last evening. The readings of Mrs. Esther R. Banks of Boston; vocal numbers by Mrs. C. B. Conrad and Miss Franc Edwards and instrumental music by the Orpheus Mandolin club consisting of Messrs Bauman, Haggart, Barlow, Pierce, Johnson and Robinson were pleasing features. Refreshments were served and the affair was much enjoyed by all who attended.

BAD BOYS RALLY AT THE BRIDGE

Good Chance for the Police to Use Their Hickory Uniforms.

The east end of Fourth avenue bridge is being used by a crowd of unruly boys as a rendezvous for their after-dark exploits. The crowd of overgrown hoodlums congregating at this place makes it very unpleasant for ladies who are compelled to pass that way. A regulation wooden police uniform vigorously weilded might have a good effect in dispersing the crowd.

SHOOTERS AT LAKE KOSHKONONG.

Advance Guard From Janesville Are at the Shooting Grounds,

A number of Janesville sportsmen are arranging for a season at Lake Koshkonong. An advance guard went up to the lake yesterday, and others will follow in a day or two. The ice has been broken up and has been moved and banked on the north shore, leaving the lake open, and ducks are said to be coming in from the south.

BURT KEITH HARD ON DUCKS.

He Kills Twenty-Five or Thirty Every Time He Fires.

Burt Keith is undoubtedly the champion duck shooter. Last week he killed twenty-six ducks at one discharge of a double barrel gun. He sold twenty-four of the ducks for $3.40. Last week Mr. Keith killed eight wild geese at a single discharge of his gun.

Richard Mansfield Coming.

One of the star performance among all the brilliant attractions that Janesville people will see at the Myers Grand this season will be Richard Mansfield in "Beau Brummell" which will be presented a week from Saturday, March 14. Although comparatively a young man his reputation is world-wide. "Beau Brummell" is one of Mr. Mansfield's best plays and the critics are loud in their praise of his work. Mr. Mansfield is supported by an exceptionally strong company of ladies and gentlemen and the patrons of the Grand on that evening will witness an exceptionally fine performance that will be first class in every respect.

REV. M. BARRINGTON ON LENT

The Rector of Christ Church Vigorously Defends the Custom.

EDITOR GAZETTE: Those who cling to the faith once delivered to the saints and to the Historic church are delighted with every evidence that the church's customs are being more generally observed. Only a short time ago the Boston Herald, one of the leading dailies of New England, contained a long editorial on "A Wider Observance of Lent" i. e. outside of the Episcopal, Roman Catholic and Lutheran bodies, and it was productive of much favorable comment. Think of such a thing in Boston, the former seat of Puritanism! Now we learn through The Gazette that here in the west, in the city of Milwaukee the observance of Lent is increasing to such an alarming extent, apparently, that ministers have to forego the pleasure of preaching the gospel of repentance, faith and obedience, increase in order to denouce it.

As for fasting in general—Christ and His apostles were Jews. The law prescribed the annual fast on the day of atonement Lev. XVI : 20 Numbers XXIX : 7. The Jews during the captivity observed four annual fasts. Special fasts were at times proclaimed I Sam VII : 6, II Chron. XX : 3. See also Neh. IX : I. Besides this there was the voluntary fast on Mondays and Thursdays Luke XVIII : 12.

Fasting then being hardly unknown to the Jews our Lord said in effect: "When ye fast" (implying the custom) "be not hypocrites; appear not unto men to fast * * * and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly." Reward thee for what? Manifestly for fasting.

As to the custom in the church we read in the Schaff-Herzog Enclycopedia: "Fasting appears as an established practice already in the primitive church (Acts XIII : 2, XIV : 23, XXVII : 9, II Cor. VI : 5) derived partly from the discipline of the synagogue, partly from spontaneous inspiration" and so was a custom in the apostolic church. As for Lent, we read in the same encyclopedia "Through Irenaeus (115–190 A. D) and Tertullian (150–230 A. D) the existence of such a fast can be traced back to a very early date in the history of the church."

It maybe that the non-observance of Lent is one of the improvemonts of those Christian bodies who can only claim a post-reformation existence, over the customs of the apostolic churches and fasting is "the law of Christian liberty." If so, the improvement the law, is found to be a defect and a remedy is sought in the week of prayer which is thrust upon the Christmas festivities.

It is alleged: "All days and all times are Lent." Lent means spring but we would hardly say "all days and all time" are spring, though it is undoubtedly true that with many there is a continuous sowing of the seeds of promise but no reaping of the fruits of righteousness. With spring are associated certain things, house cleaning for instance. Every man in the house is inclined to think it unnecessary as the house is swept and garnished every week. Life is a burden to him while it lasts, but after it is all over he is bound to admit that his house is cleaner and sweeter and brighter. Now our bodies are the temple of the Holy Ghost and do what we will the dust of sin will collect here and there clogging our sensibilities, and Lent, as the annual season of spiritual house cleaning, is most profitable when properly kept.

Finally, "three hundred and twenty-five days of worldliness and forty days of Lent are a travesty" we are told. Perhaps he who made that statement is not aware that from Ash Wednesday to Easter is forty-six days, including six Sundays, but the first day of the week is always a festival, never a fast, because our Lord rose from the dead on that day. And so the first day of the week, the Lord's day is not included in the Quadragesima. But aside from that, to imply, because some christians observe the forty days of Lent in retirement, fasting, spiritual house cleaning, that the rest of the year including Sundays is given by them to worldliness, is unkind, uncharitable, unchristian and suggests what is not consonant with facts.

Lent may seem a travesty to those who know nothing about it, but there are many souls who have learned to call these forty days, "the dear feast of Lent," because they have found them so profitable. Knowing therefore the benefits of the season when properly observed, we rejoice upon every indication of its wider observance, because it means that others are being brought to realize its worth,

A. H. BARRINGTON, Christ Church rectory.

A Boston Love Affair.

"Miss Winthrop-Winthrop," he said, gingerly, as if her name were an exquisite piece of china, "will you be my wife?" She drew back on the instant. "I hardly expected this, Mr. Common," she responded, "but since you have mentioned it so frankly permit me to say as frankly that I will not." "No?" he exclaimed, in astonishment. "No," she said; "your ancestors did not come over in the Mayflower, as mine did, and I cannot marry you." At this supreme moment he forgot all about the potent factor of wealth, and his mind dwelt on the possibility—nay, probability—that he, too, must have had ancestors some time in the past, and his bosom swelled with pride and resentment. "And do you know why they did not, Miss Winthrop-Winthrop?" he asked, in lofty tones. "Do you know why they did not? I'll tell you. They were not the kind of people who traveled with excursions." And he strode from the house in imperious disdain.—Boston Common.

She Probably Will.

She giggled when he talked to her,
She giggled when he stopped;
She giggled when he kissed her first,
She giggled when he "popped";
She giggled when the day was set,
She giggled when they wed;
And now he often wonders if
She'll giggle when he's dead.

Catarrh
AND COLD IN THE HEAD
relieved instantly by one application of
Birney's Catarrh Powder

REV. FATHER CLARKE, Sec'y to the Rt. Rev. Bishop of Columbus, Ohio, writes;

GENTLEMEN:—I cannot say enough for your Powder. It has cured me of an aggravated attack of catarrh when nothing else could help me. Am delighted with it. All my friends to whom I administered samples are quite enthusiastic over it. The good sisters speak most encouragingly of their use of it in the Hospital under their care. I will do anything to speak a good word for the remedy to help others who are suffering.

M. E. FERGUSON, Custodian U. S. Appraiser's Stores, Chicago, writes:

GENTLEMEN:—Being almost entirely deaf for a number of years past and getting no relief from many so-called cures which I tried, was induced by a friend to try Dr. Birney's Catarrhal Powder for my deafness. Have recovered my hearing entirely, so that I can now hear a watch tick plainly, it being held 15 inches from my ear. I look upon it as a positive cure for deafness and have recommended its use to many of my friends and can say I have never heard of a case where it has failed to relieve.

ATHLETIC POINTERS BY TWO STRONG MEN

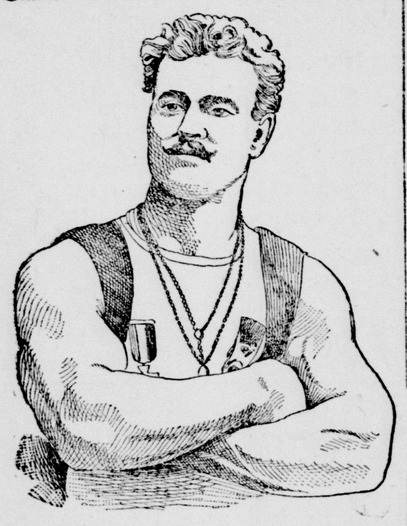

SANDOW AND ATTILA WRITE ABOUT ATHLETES.

The Perfect Man Is Careful of What He Eats—The Shower Bath Should Be Liberally Patronized—Exercise Moderately But Persistently.

ALL MEN AND women, unless they are afflicted with some organic disease, can be strong and healthy, if they will. That desirable result can be obtained if they simply follow the rules of action their ancestors were governed by. To accomplish this some self-denial is required. The majority of men and women are too self indulgent. They eat, drink and sleep too much. More people die nowadays from overeating than undereating.

I am not a cynic and do not believe in Banting, semi-starvation or any of the drastic methods which some physicians advocate to reduce one's avoirdupois and to gain strength after it has been depleted by an excess of adipose tissue. Strength can not be regained in that way. Such a process only weakens the seeker of health, just the same as "tapping" does a dropsical patient.

Neither will "stuffing" aid a man or woman who from natural or artificial causes suffers from a wasting of the tissues.

There is only one absolutely curative remedy for both, and that is exercise. By that I do not mean that people should overtax their physical energies to attain health and strength. On the contrary, I insist that the process shall be gradual. The lighter the exercise to begin with the better. Increase the amount as your strength increases. Never through pride or any other reason strive to do that which you can not, without extreme effort, perform. A man or woman should always feel better and stronger, not weaker, after taking exercise, outdoor or indoor.

Exercise, judiciously taken, I believe to be the panacea of all ills. It stimulates all the vital functions, heart, lungs, liver and kidneys. It also strengthens all of the muscles of the body and indirectly aids these organs.

If any man primarily sound physically will follow the systematic course of training that I have pursued I will guarantee that he will become stronger and healthier than his fellows. Even those who acquired or inherited diseases will be bettered by the essay.

The rules are simple and easy to follow. Fat men and women should avoid—or rather decrease by degrees—ales, porters, liquors, starchy cereals or fattening substances of any kind. Lean people should partake of these in moderation. Both can partake of juicy joints, be they from the sheep or the ox, only let them avoid too much seasoning in the way of salt, pepper or sauces. These create an unnatural thirst which nothing but copious draughts of liquor of some kind can quench. Too much liquid overworks the kidneys and liver and indirectly affects the heart.

Never sleep more than eight hours a day. Eat regularly and at stated intervals in the manner already described. Walk a mile or more after each meal before attempting any labor, physical or mental. A jaunt of two, three or five miles in the afternoon, when nature is at her best, will not harm you a particle. You are to be governed entirely by your powers and nature will tell you when you have had enough. Then go to a gymnasium and exercise with light dumbbells for an hour or two every day, with frequent intermissions for rest. Try every kind of motion, backward, forward, overhand and underhand. Any athletic professor can teach you all the curves. In this way you will develop the muscles of every portion of the body and surprise yourself at the end of a twelvemonth by the improvement in your condition. Of course a quick bath—a shower is the best—and on the scene in an attire that mainly consists of a pair of corsets and red flannel garments that it is not usual to speak of indiscriminately unless you are referring to a chest of them. The roar of laughter that followed her entry shook the boards beneath us. A few moments later, Mrs. Crusoe finds the rest of her clothes and gives a sort of skirt dance, which is a clever piece of fooling.

Little Tich, who was with your American extravaganzas for some time, doesn't seem to have so many opportunities in the present pantomime as on former occasions, and with his ludicrous make-up as a Matabele warrior his stock of fun is exhausted for some time. Tich is the "Friday" of the piece; but that night it seemed to me that from his quiet demeanor he might well have been mistaken for Sunday morning. Herbert Campbell is "Will Atkins," the pirate, and his disguise is such that I don't suppose his own dog would know him.

Little crowds of ladies,
Truly yummy-yum,
Little suits of clothing,
(Mighty little, some,)
Little bits of humor,
Sayings smart and rich,
Little group of artistes,
Little—Little Tich,
Little scenes of beauty,
Gorgeous all the time,
Plus a clown and p'liceman—
Make a pantomime.

THE COLOR LINE.

A Chicago Paper Says It Helped President Luscomb's Election.

Charles H. Luscomb, the new president of the league of American Wheelmen, was elected at the recent Louisville convention on the negro issue, Luscomb is an old hand in the L. A. W. He was president once before this and for some time was chief consul of the big New York division. It is at least a remarkable fact that a great body of American citizens like the L. A. W., which has about fifty thousand members, should be led astray on this important question by a handful of prejudiced southerners. It was not so long ago that Mr. Luscomb, who is an able man in every respect, was among those who denounced the shameful anti-negro movement fiercely. In this campaign he was non-committal, but he gave secret assurance to his supporters in the south that he would swing his party into line on the color question. The delegates to the Louisville assembly, say some, acted like cowards when they voted in a secret ballot. It was, says the Chicago Post, a most despicable affair all around in the opinion of liberal-minded northerners, and the great body of the L. A. W., which does not want the discrimination, should do something to wipe out the disgrace. Mr. Luscomb will probably make a good president in other respects.

introduce the eldest daughter of Dave Braham, the orchestra director and composer, to the public. Miss Rose Braham is just 16 years old, and she made her debut as Juliet in the balcony scene, with Miss Alice Oliver as Romeo.

Miss Braham is a plump and petite brunette, with a beautiful complexion, dazzling white teeth and large gray eyes. She has been studying for the stage with Miss Bertha Welby, and those who have heard her read predict a successful future for the young woman. She was the youngest actress to attempt Juliet.

SPORTING NOTES.

Robert Emmons has been chosen by Harvard men for the football captaincy.

Phil Dwyer will rely on his 3-year-olds Declare and Patrician this season to keep clear of the dust from the field.

Racing at New Orleans is poor, the crowds are very small and the bookmakers are leaving.

Sallie Woodford, a 2-year-old filly by Salvator, out of Miss Woodford, is likely to be a star performer in Green Morris' string this year.

Frank T. Clark, superintendent of the Sheepshead Bay track, has completed the plans for laying out the new steeplechase course, which will add to the attractions of the favorite track by the sea next season. The course for steeplechasers will begin on the grass track in front of the grand stand. The horses will cross the dirt track, cross the mile chute into the fields beyond and follow the turn of the prepared track to a point near the far turn, where a cut is made to the infield; once round the infield and then out on the turf track to the far turn and so to the finish. The course will be about three miles in all.

WINTER AT THE MILL.

The winding lane is filled with snow;
The cold sky wears a frown;
As far as hazy dreamland seems
The warm o'erflowing town,
And everything is white and chill
When it is winter at the mill.

The mill wheel with its merry whir,
In icy hands is fast;
No cheery neighbor seeks the door;
No traveler wanders past;
The path is lost across the hill
When it is winter at the mill.

The miller reads his almanac
And wishes it were spring,
When logs come tumbling down the stream,
And larks and veeries sing;
The whole wide world is blank and still
When it is winter at the mill.

The miller's wife, sore discontent,
Sits by the casement low,
And knits and watches the gray smoke
From village chimneys blow,
There is no gossip, good or ill,
When it is winter at the mill.

But to the miller's little maid
Time hastes on rosy wing.
The fairies she could never find
In any haunts of spring
Fill all the firelit chimney nook
Through magic of a story book.

EXILED.

Gilbert de Saumur had just returned to Paris after 10 years' sojourn in America. He had left his country ruined and almost hopeless, a victim to his passion for gambling. He was quite young when he had left France, but he had squandered away a large fortune and so had courageously decided to go into exile and try his luck in a new way—namely, by work! He had started away with £20 in his pocket and had now returned after 10 years' slavery almost a rich man again.

He was once more on the boulevards, once more gazing at the brilliantly lighted shops and at the gay crowd of fashionable loungers who were strolling along apparently without a care in the world. At last, feeling a little tired, he sat down at one of the tables outside a cafe, idly wondering whether any of his former friends would recognize him again now.

Suddenly he felt a hand on his shoulder, and turning round discovered an old acquaintance of his.

"De Saumur, is it possible? Why, old fellow, how many years is it since we met, or rather since we parted?"

"Ten years, Rouval—just 10 years since I started off with my £20 to try my luck over the sea."

"And what sort of luck have you had, old fellow?"

"Very fair—better than I expected. I've come back anyhow with enough of the 'needful' to go along all right now. How have you been getting on all these years?"

"Well, I've had some changes, like every one else. I'm married now and am getting on all right—at least I should if I could only leave the confounded cards alone."

"Take care, Rouval, if you go in for that still. I ought to have been a warning to some of you. Why don't you give that sort of thing up once and for all?"

"That's easier said than done. What is a fellow to do at the club, and then if once you've won from a man you cannot refuse to let him have his chance, and so you go on. I say, you'll come home with me? I want to hear all about your doings and introduce you to my wife."

"I should like to come very much"—

"Well, it's settled then. Now tell me something about your life over yonder. How did you ever get a start?"

"Well, I had a bad time at first, I confess. The motto of the country there is 'Every man for himself.' If one cannot hold one's own in the fierce competition that is waged, then there is nothing to do but give in and disappear. On the contrary, if you've got some grip in you and can hold on and have got just enough money in your pocket to keep you from starving till you get your foot on the ladder, why, there's a chance for you.

"I stood off at nothing, as I did not know a soul in the whole country. As I knew a good deal about horses, I offered my services as coachman to a New York physician and had the honor of driving him about all day to visit his patients."

"De Saumur, is it possible?"

"It was, Rouval; that was precisely how I commenced. When I had got used to the life over there and saw how things went, I ventured on other things, and I certainly had good luck, for everything I touched succeeded. As soon as I had scraped a little money together I put it into some shares in a railway company, and so I went on until I had made what I considered enough to come back with."

"It's been pretty rough on you, Gilbert."

"It has, and I don't mind owning it now. The hardest thing of all was to keep myself from gambling away the money as I made it. It was easy enough to rough it as regards other things, both luxuries and the necessities of life, but it was confoundedly hard to keep away from the gaming tables, which exist there just as much as here. Thank heaven, I did resist though, or I shouldn't be here now."

"Ah, my dear fellow, you won't be long here in Paris before you'll give in to your old habits. What can a man do at the club? But come along. We must start now. I want to introduce you to my wife."

The two men got up and sauntered along the boulevards to the Avenue de l'Opera, where Jacques Rouval lived.

After dinner Rouval took his new found friend into his smoking den, there to indulge in a cigar.

"Do you care to have a look in at the club?" he asked him a little later on.

"No, I don't think I do this evening. You know, it is not cheerful after 10 years' absence to return to old haunts which are filled with strangers and to find all those one knows are no longer there, and after the long list you told me about at dinner time it seems to me there is scarcely any one I know left."

Rouval was not very delighted at this decision. He was in the habit of going to the club every evening and spending some hours at the card tables, and it had become so fixed a habit with him that he felt restless and dissatisfied anywhere else. He would like to ask De Saumur to take a hand with him, but under the circumstances he scarcely dared to. He kept casting furtive glances at the little table in the corner of the room, and at length De Saumur, who had noticed his friend's uneasiness and who from experience guessed the cause, suggested himself "that they should just have a round or two at cards to see how much he had forgotten in 10 years."

"But I thought you had quite given up playing for ever and ever?" objected his friend.

"Yes, as a regular habit I have, but it is quite another thing to have a game quietly here like this."

Rouval was only too delighted and pulled the card table out with alacrity.

De Saumur played at first carelessly. He had only proposed it out of consideration to his friend, and he felt rather bored. Rouval kept winning and appeared so contented with himself and had such a triumphant manner that De Saumur found himself getting interested and excited in spite of himself. The more he lost the more persistent he became. It was as though the old passion of former days which for 10 years had been kept in control by his strong will had completely got the mastery of him. At first the stakes had been insignificant, but as he continued to lose he became more and more desperate, until at last the amount was getting so serious that Rouval did not wish to continue.

"But as I have been the loser so far," said De Saumur, "you cannot refuse to go on surely!"

"It is not for my own sake, but I don't like it, Gilbert. You are here at my house, and you are playing desperate stakes."

"Well, that's my own lookout. It's your turn to cut."

Day was beginning to break, and the two men were still seated at the card table. They had played all night, and now their eyes were fiery with excitement, and their hands trembled as they handled the cards.

At last Gilbert de Saumur exclaimed, "There, I cannot go on any more!"

Rouval looked at him anxiously, thinking that he was ill, but he continued:

"No, I've come to an end, that's all. I cannot go on, because you have won nearly every cent I possess. I'll give you a check on my banker for it, and that settles it."

A dead silence followed these words. What was to be done? The play had been strictly fair, and Rouval had won it fairly.

"My dear fellow," said Rouval as De Saumur finished writing out the check, "I cannot take it all. Keep something for yourself."

"I have £40 left," replied De Saumur coldly. "That will be enough to get back where I came from. Work is better for me than fortune. I have proved that twice. I thought now I was cured, but it appears I was mistaken. I suppose now I shall never see Paris again. Goodby, Rouval."

And he got up, and opening the door took his hat from the peg in the hall and went down stairs, followed by Rouval, who accompanied him to the hall door, and who, when he had closed it after his friend, went back to his smoking den and paced up and down the room until it was broad daylight.

"Very odd," was the verdict at the club the next evening. "Not quite the thing to take everything the poor fellow had worked 10 years for and so send him back to perpetual exile."—Million.

Pertinent Inscriptions.

It is quite an interesting thing to learn that some of our best knowns proverbs and mottoes were originally used in connection with sundials. Before the days of watches and clocks, when dials and sun marks were among the rude means of reckoning time, it was a prevailing custom to inscribe them.

Among the maxims traceable to this source are, "Make hay while the sun shines," "The longest day must end" and "All things do wax and wane."

Sundials spoke the truth, as may be inferred from a historic one which was placed on St. Paul's cross, in London, and which proclaimed, "I number none but sunny hours." This no one will doubt who has had occasion to consult a dial on an overcast day.

A famous dial in Sussex, England, bore four famous mottoes applicable to the flight of time and the brevity of life. They were as follows: "After darkness, light." "Alas! how swift!" "I warn whilst I move" and "So passes life."

Another old sundial spoke petulantly about the same subject in the words, "Sirrah, be gone about your business."—New York Herald.

Extenuating Circumstances.

Judge—What, you plead extenuating circumstances? Why, your crime was simply terrible! After robbing the poor family of what little money they had managed to accumulate by almost starving themselves, you murdered them all—father, mother and eight children, pouring kerosene on them and setting them on fire. Then you burned their house and killed eight of the officers who tried to arrest you. And what, may I ask, then, are your extenuating circumstances?

Prisoner—Your honor, it was my first offense of the kind!—Boston Traveller.

A VETERAN'S VERDICT.

The War is Over. A Well-known Soldier, Correspondent and Journalist Makes a Disclosure.

Indiana contributed her thousands of brave soldiers to the war, and no state bears a better record in that respect than it does. In literature it is rapidly acquiring an enviable place. In war and literature Solomon Yewell, well known as a writer as "Sol," has won an honorable position. During the late war he was a member of Co. M, 2d. N. Y. Cavalry and of the 13th Indiana Infantry Volunteers. Regarding an important circumstance he writes as follows:

"Several of us old veterans here are using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, Heart Cure and Nerve and Liver Pills, all of them giving splendid satisfaction. In fact, we have never used remedies that compare with them. Of the Pills we must say they are the best combination of the qualities required in a preparation of their nature we have ever known. We have none but words of praise for them. They are the outgrowth of a new principle in medicine, and tone up the system wonderfully. We say to all, try these remedies."—Solomon Yewell, Marion, Ind., Dec. 5, 1892.

These remedies are sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles $5, express prepaid. They positively contain neither opiates nor dangerous drugs.

SOMETHING ABOUT NEW SALVATORS.

THEY ARE THE COMING TURF FAVORITES.

The Youngsters in Whose Veins Flows the Blood of the Greatest Race Horse the American Track Has Ever Seen.

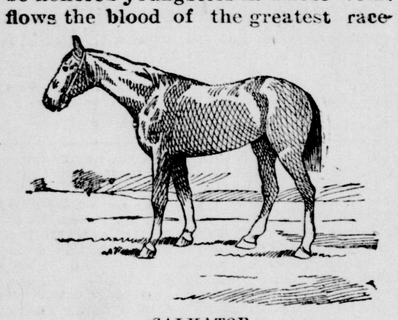

SALVATOR AT Rancho del Paso, remarks a turfman, fills the eye of a horse critic as much as he did as a race-horse.

And why not?

Long before the world's champion thoroughbred's first sons and daughters were old enough to look through a bridle, thousands of dollars were given for the youngsters by admiring turfmen, who felt certain that the phenomenal qualities that Salvator displayed on the turf at one time (Aug. 28, 1890) running a mile in 1:35½, would be transmitted to his sons and daughters, provided, of course, that an equally royal strain was observed in the selection of brood mares.

Very few men who have watched American racing have failed to keep track of the progress of these soon-to-be-honored youngsters in whose veins flows the blood of the greatest racehorse America has ever seen, not even excepting Morello, alluded to as Salvator's equal, if not superior, or the fat and sleek, unbeaten Ormonde that the English have styled the horse of the century, now munching the alfalfa of W. O'Brien Macdonough's farm. How eagerly these lovers of horseflesh scan the turf journals to note the progress of some Salvator foal, be he from the dam Miss Woodford, one of the queenly matrons that will have a great influence upon American breeding, or from the dam Bella B., herself a daughter of the old sire Enquirer.

And when the produce of the horse that unscrupulous persons said was a "roarer," much to the disgust of that wizard trainer Matt Byrnes, who handled the turf king when he was in his prime, were sent to New York to be sold, the interest of months culminated in the sale, only to be renewed by the reports that their respective owners were getting ready to train and race the youngsters. The man who is considered to have got the best bargain at the sale is Green B. Morris, who paid $5,000 for the brown filly, dam Miss Woodford (by Billet). Charles Fleischman, however, was forced to pay $7,300 for the Lou Lanier colt, a relative to Lucky Dog, Kildeer and Kilkenny. Marcus Daly had had many little talks with Matt Byrnes, his trainer, it is supposed, and of course he had some choice ones from the lot. He bought the gray daughter of Lizzie Lucas for $6,500, certainly a very bold purchase in view of the popular superstition among turfmen that gray horses are unlucky. For the Lydia filly, this dam being by Miss Woodford's sire Billet, Marcus Daly did not consider $3,700 too much, and he readily gave $5,000 for the Mabel colt and $4,500 for the Aurelia filly. Before he concluded he also added to his list the Chimera colt for $6,200 and the Ethel filly for $5,750.

The other sons and daughters of Salvator sold were: Vandalite filly, to Dr. Streett, for $3,100; Peoria filly, to A. J. Hargraves, for $2,250; Katrine filly, to W. M. Barrick, for $1,800; Belle B. filly, to Fred Eshner, for $1,300; the Daruna colt, to Charley Oxx, for $2,200; the Electra colt, to Charles Littlefield, Jr., for $2,100, and the Electricity filly, for $1,000, to A. J. Hargraves. There are just fifteen sons and daughters in the list. Some one made the novel suggestion at the time of the sale—but it was not considered worthy of mention—that these animals be named in this manner: Take the phrase Salvator the King, and give the first some name beginning with s; the next a name beginning with a, the next l, and so on, using all the letters of the phrase. The man suggested that the names be so odd that the mere pronunciation of any one of them would be equivalent to letting the casual turf-follower know that the colt or filly was a son or daughter of the great Salvator. Unfortunately for the purposes of this novel scheme for nomenclature, the owners have in most cases decided upon the names that they will give their Salvator 2-year-olds, which is quite their prerogative.

Only a very dejected and narrow-minded person could help sharing the anxiety of the various owners of these precious youngsters for their racing qualities; providing, of course, that these men took any interest whatsoever in thoroughbreds. The turf writers of the country will devote considerable space to the first victory, or even the first race, of one of these two-year-olds, and the communications will be read with far more interest than were the accounts of the winning of Hindoo's first get. Iroquois was in the mind's eye of the public to a great extent when he ended his triumphant international career on the turf to go to the stud, but to-day the breeding interests are so important and the desire of most of the breeders is so great to select only the choicest of horses for breeding purposes, that the interest in the Salvator racers is greatly intensified. Who knows but that a second Domino will be developed from the colts? But if these youngsters are going to turn out as did Yo El Rey, when the attention of the entire sporting world was centered upon the young brother to Yo Tambien, then the colts would be better turned out to grass.

Rancho del Paso is a beautiful place for a great horse like Salvator to spend his days, but it is safe to say that 80 per cent of the race goers would rather see Salvator rejuvenated and trained ready for a race, upon some race track, than to hear of him as "J. B. Haggin's stallion." But while Tenny was revived for a brief spell and stood some training he did not race, and Flambeau and Racine were galvanized into excuses for racers, there is as little hope of Salvator ever being brought upon the turf, old as he is, as there is of "Banquet running in the Derby," and that of course is nil. That Salvator may render a good account of himself through his young representatives on the turf this season is the wish of all sporting men, and that Matt Byrnes may be shown to be right when he denies that Salvator's wind was affected is sincerely to be hoped.

Miss Elderleigh—I wonder why they're introducing such old-fashioned dances. I can't manage to learn them. Miss Caustique—Oh, the steps will all come back to you by and by.

Aunty—So you have had your first meal at your new boarding-place? Was it a course dinner? Little Girl—Awfully.

After the Meet. Miss Harkaway—And how did you get on at the first fence? Mr. Newe Nimrod—Oh, I—er—got off at the first fence.

Gus—What do you girls do at your conversation club—just sit around and stare at each other and talk? Clara—No, indeed; we play whist.

Mrs. Wickwire—Why, Norah, there is nothing of this lobster but the shell. Norah—Sure, mem, you didn't think Oi would cuke it widout cleaning it?

ABOUT NEW YORK.

The Area of the City Less Than That of Any Other Big Population Center.

How many people have ever stopped to inquire how many dwelling houses there are in New York city? There are 81,828, with an average of 3.82 families to a house and 5 persons to a family, or 19 persons to a house. Twenty years ago the average was 14. Ten years ago it was 16.5. Ten years hence, from present appearances and at the present rate of increase of flats and apartment houses and the abandonment of small brick dwellings, it will be 22. New York does not stand very high on the list of American cities in respect to area, being, in fact, the smallest geographically of any of the big cities except Baltimore, Cincinnati and Brooklyn. New York covers about the same area as Fall River, Buffalo, Denver, Duluth or Sioux City. Chicago is four times as large and New Orleans, St. Louis and Washington cover territory 50 per cent greater. Des Moines, St. Paul and Minneapolis are each of them larger than New York. San Francisco, with one-sixth of the population, is slightly larger.

Advocates of a "greater New York" find encouragement in the fact that the population of the two cities of New York and Brooklyn, exclusive of outlying towns and regions included in the scheme, would foot up 2,915,000, against 2,447,000, the population of Paris, and 4,230,000, the population of London. New York-Brooklyn would then be the second largest city in the world, says the New York Sun. New York is now third and Brooklyn the tenth. Together they would have an area of 68 square miles. The area of London is 122 and of Paris 29. New York is one of the healthiest cities in the world, and is becoming more so each year, the death rate from consumption, for instance, now being 3.09 against 3.89 in 1880, 4.41 in 1872 and 4.65 in 1865.

Bland's Bill on Hearing.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The senate, after making a number of committee changes as agreed upon in caucus, took up the seigniorage bill at 12:30 yesterday, and Senator Stewart of Nevada addressed the senate in advocacy of it.

Mr. Dolph followed him, but had not proceeded far when Senator Hoar interrupted him to call attention to the absence of a quorum. The roll was called, but thirty-six senators responded, and the senate adjourned.

Crisp Not a Candidate.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Speaker Crisp is not regarded by his friends as a candidate for the United States senate to succeed Senator Colquitt, although recent dispatches from Georgia have mentioned Mr. Crisp among the probable candidates. The speaker will not discuss the subject, but those near him have reason to know that he is not a candidate.

To Drain a Marsh.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 14.—Agents for a number of Chicago people who own vast tracts of marsh land on the Kankakee in this state have been quietly making an attempt to raise a fund of $500,000 for the purpose of draining the Kankakee swamps and making over 400,000 acres now under water almost the year round available for cultivation. All told it is said not less than 1,000,000 acres will be benefited.
